Double trouble comes

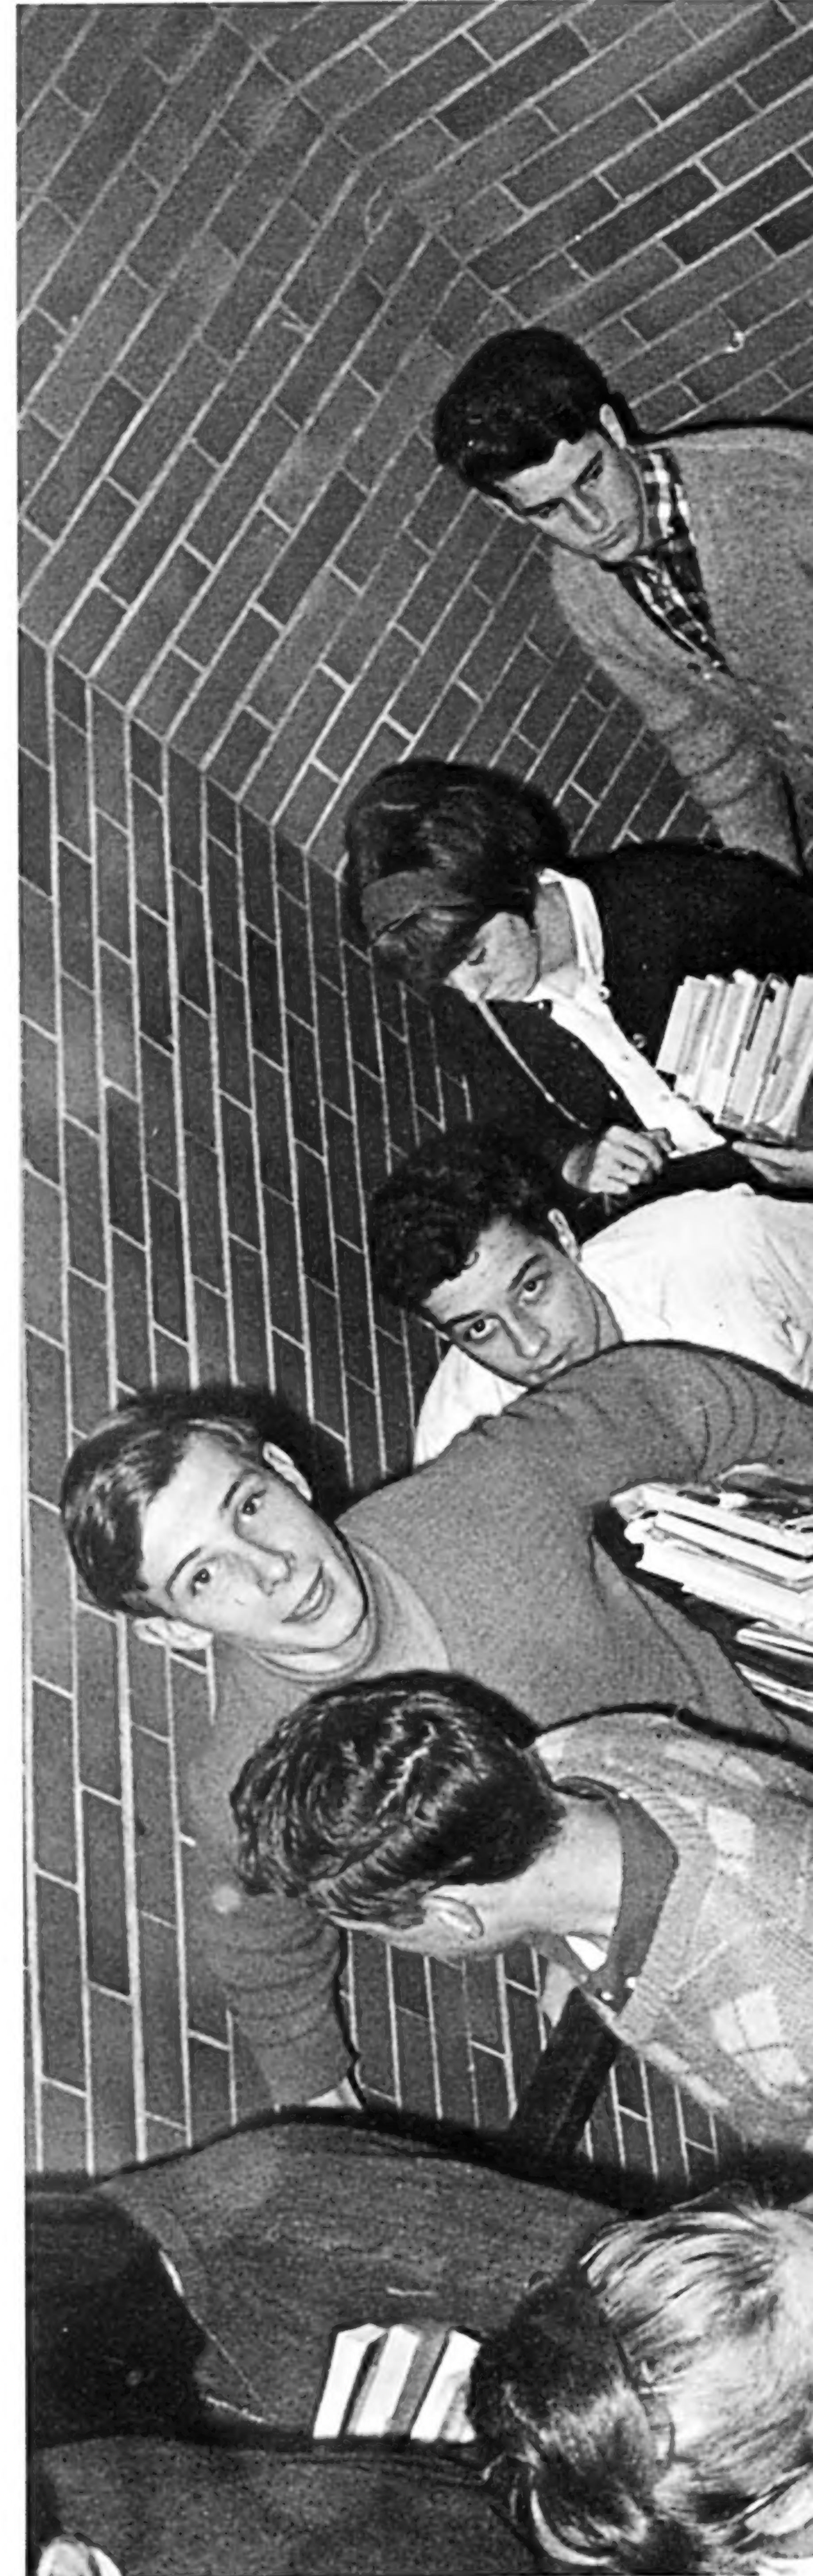

September 1966 saw double sessions hit Pittsfield High School. The seniors and juniors soon realized that it was not so easy to get up early and keep going strong all day. Their consolation, however, came with the glorious dismissal at 12:30. The sophomores, though, had to trudge home through the dark and miss many activities that took place in the afternoons.

Double sessions may have relieved the crowded class rooms, but brought many troubles: the mad clamor between sessions, the frustration from doubling up on lockers, the increased work for teachers, office staff, custodians and cafeteria workers, and the persistence needed in keeping up with extra-curricular activities at odd hours.

Everyone soon adjusted to the difficulties that double sessions brought, though, and realized that the basics of all school life—the students, the companionship, the studies, the ideals—still existed.

ADMINISTRATION

Able administrators face the challenge of double sessions

Mr. Harold E. Hennessy, Principal, found the phone ringing twice as much this year.

Mr. Hennessy even manages a smile as he gazes out at the mall teeming with students between sessions.

For the first time since our building opened in 1931, overcrowded conditions have resulted in double sessions—triple, in fact; upperclassmen attend morning sessions; sophomores, afternoon sessions; and the vocational students, the regular school session. Such doubling of classes, of course, means doubling the responsibility of administration.

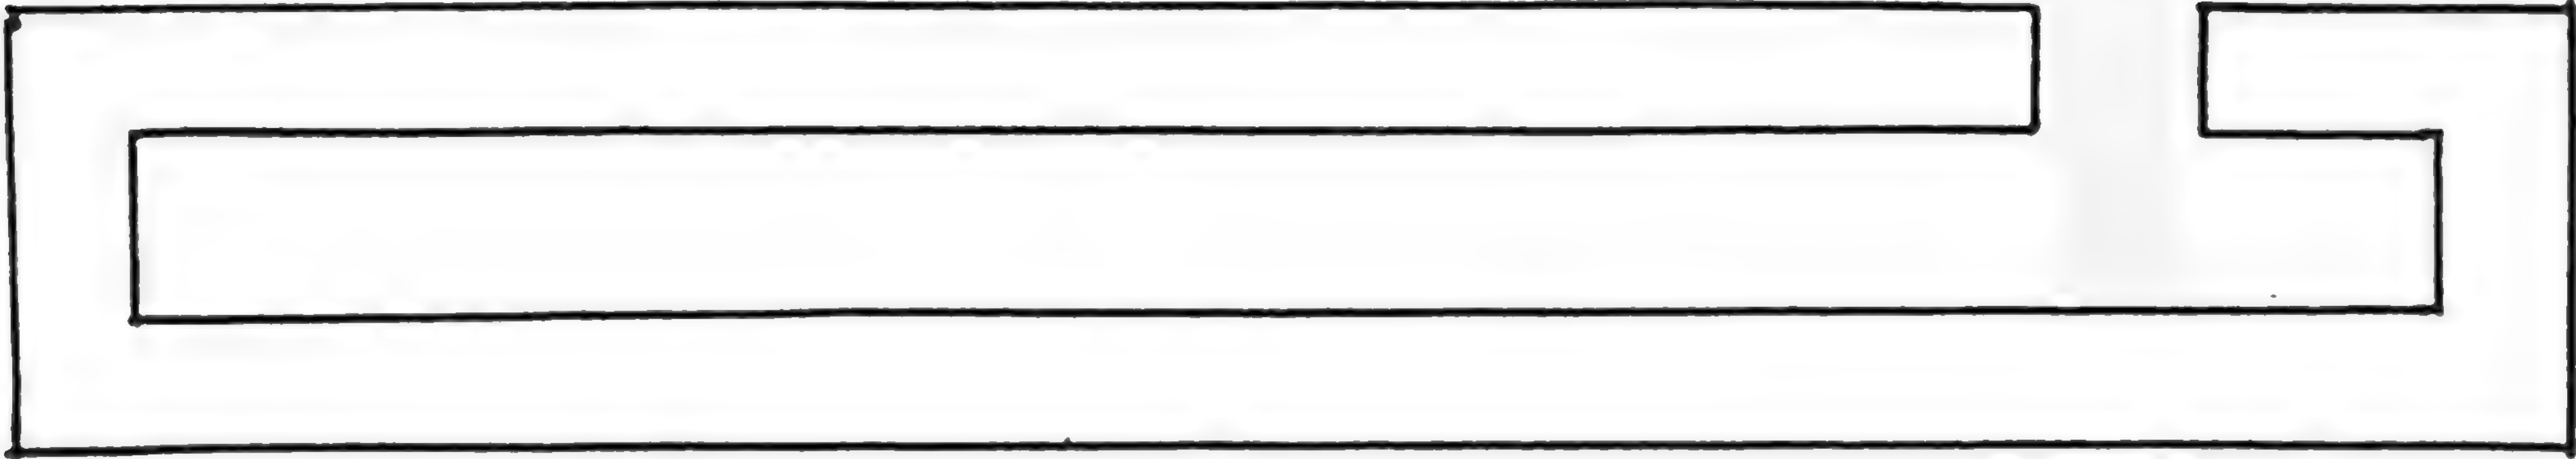

With over 2600 students Mr. Hennessy faced the supervision of the largest school in the area. Scheduling so many pupils created problems which even the famed computers could not solve; however, within a short time he and his staff had the building running smoothly and efficiently from 7:30 A.M. to 6:00 P.M.

Dean of Junior and Senior Girls, Miss Rosemary Cummings's tasks begin early in the morning.

Comparing notes on student work reports are Mr. Daniel J. Donoghue, Assistant Director, and Mr. William L. Dehey, Director of Vocational.

Mr. Frank T. Coughlin, Vice-Principal of Technical, and Mr. Edward J. McKenna, Vice-Principal, spent many hours writing and revising the schedules of students who became "computer casualties" in September.

CURRICULUM

A new dimension is added to English course

This year students walking by rooms 201 and 203 were mystified by the changes which had taken place there. Within, they could see wall-to-wall carpeting, twenty language booths, earphones, microphones, tape-recorders, overhead projectors, speed-reading kits, and equipment of all kinds.

As a result of a Federal grant, the installation of these reading laboratories has resulted in new courses designed to improve speed, concentration and comprehension skills in reading. Developmental reading and remedial reading courses are now available for any student, regardless of curriculum.

A greatly increased staff and additions to the curriculum content make much more complicated the work of Miss Rosemary Haylon, English Chairman; nevertheless, the compensation, in the form of increased language skills for students, makes all the effort worthwhile.

Since a good listener proves a good reader, Roberta Harris practices, while Mrs. Andersen checks students in the listening booths.

The reading teachers hold many conferences. The Misses Nathalie Hunter, Nina Flanders, Mrs. Catherine Andersen, and Miss Gail Enman all agree that regardless of the reading course selected, a student must learn that all reading experience can be an enjoyable as well as an educational pastime.

AFTERNOON AND "SWING" FACULTY

Seated: The Misses Maureen Hannigan, Laurretta M. Guiltinan, Virginia Sheinhouse, Carol Karpek, Mrs. Rosemary Battistoni and Miss Gail Caulfield. Standing: Messrs. Anthony Russo, Louis Roberts, Edwin Stevens, and Donald Reynolds.

MORNING FACULTY

Seated: Miss Rosemary T. Haylon, Head, Mrs. Sheila A. Schlawin, Mrs. Julia L. Solnica, Miss Theresa J. Tierney, Mrs. Claudia Landall, Miss Margaret A. Hoffman and Mrs. Patricia M. O'Leary. Standing: Messrs. Edward V. Shields, Joseph E. Fox, Thomas McGill, Donald E. Anderson and David A. Peirce. Absent: Miss Mary Curtin and Mr. Donald Kasuba.

Students practice reading skills with the aid of an overhead projector, part of the standard equipment in the new reading laboratories.

English projects of greatest importance senior year are research papers. In this work our librarians are ever ready with a helping hand. Here Miss Elizabeth Currier aids Linda Howard as Mrs. Rita Nesbit, afternoon librarian, checks material for Alan Leavitt.

HISTORY STAFF
Seated: Misses May Thayer, Barbara Koza, Florence R. Coffey, and Dorothy Margolin. Standing: Messrs. Mark N. Mathews, Clarence L. Carey, Walter Biron, and James Meaney.

Mark Benham, Marion Heaton, Gloria Stewart, and Craig Smith, often consult a map of resources for senior economics.

This year our history teachers really made history come alive for us. They used many visual aids such as globes and maps to relate geography to history. They showed us movies to recreate historical events. In class we read supplementary books of primary sources and found how much more interesting it is to read exactly what the people who lived through an event thought about it rather than what a present day author says about it. We were also asked to do outside research on a particular person or event to learn more about the personalities who made history.

Debates provided an excellent way to stimulate student interest. They forced us to examine the reasoning behind both sides of a question and to relive the emotions of those who were actually faced with the problem.

Finally, our teachers showed us the causes and results of historical events and related them to current problems.

HISTORY STAFF

Seated: Messrs. Joseph R. Gleason, Frank J. Moynihan, William D. Ryan, Head, Philip N. Pomerantz. Standing: Messrs.

George Callaghan, John F. Reagan, Paul Rodhouse, and William Coan. Absent: Mr. John Murray.

SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

Misses Patricia Fleming, Marjorie Guerin, Messrs. Frank J. Maiorano, John P. Leahy, Head, James F. Davison, Peter

Chase, Edward A. Blagdon, Mrs. Frances C. Gultinan, Mr. Edward W. Daley, Mrs. Rose Cooper, Messrs. Frank A. Blowe and William F. Murray. Absent: David Buchman.

In 1966 modernization of many of the science laboratories was completed. Students now find it much easier and more interesting to carry out experiments ranging from frog dissection to highly complicated electrical projects. Teachers, too, find the brightly painted, well equipped labs a great improvement.

Advanced Placement students in the three major science fields have enjoyed the exciting experience of standing in the teacher's position and lecturing on a special interest in their field. For this the labs have been an invaluable aid.

Performing an acid experiment are David Krasiewicz, Michael Pedroza, and Edward Grandbois, as Mr. Daley observes.

Audio-lingual system focuses on lab work

Since the foreign language department changed the teaching program to an audio-lingual approach, the laboratory has become a priceless center of learning. Nineteen sixty-six saw the first year of total audio-lingual operation a noteworthy success.

This system enables the student to develop fully his listening and comprehension skills, which are vital to the completion of any language study. The lab system provides the individual attention which a student needs.

Early every morning Miss Millet and Mr. Edwards scurry about the lab busily adjusting the equipment for a day of efficient operation, and all day long classes shuttle back and forth from lab to class after a living language experience.

Mr. Hall tests his German class in listening comprehension skills.

Our senior class has the distinction of being the first to have taken four years of modern math. Now that the gruelling years are over, we look back and ask, "Was it worth it?" Most will agree it was.

The new math has accomplished its purpose of helping us to understand the theory behind the process. The college prep students have gained a better understanding of algebra, geometry, and trig. The technical students have acquired the solid foundation of math, which is so essential to their work in chemistry, physics, mechanics, electricity, and higher mathematics.

The Technical Department has also initiated a "first." Under the supervision of Mr. Minecci, they have built a rebound indicator. This machine, now familiar to Pittsfield High basketball fans, is new in the area and rare anywhere.

This basketball rebound indicator was built as a group project of the Technical Department with the assistance of faculty and students in the machine and the carpentry shops. Proudly displaying their work at the Boys' Club are Randy Everett, William Adameczyk, Harry Rohlfphs, and James Maloy.

Linda Hadley, Ronald Bogle and Karl Lang check models for solid geometry class.

tomorrow's jobs

Combining work experience and academic study in varying degrees, the Vocational School offers a wide variety of training, including auto body and auto mechanics, mill carpentry shop, drafting, machine shop, welding, sheet metal work, printing, household arts and cooperative distributive education.

In the senior year the department, whenever possible, place students in cooperative job training programs in local business and industrial firms. Many of these projects lead to jobs after graduation.

Each year the equipment in all departments is renewed and augmented. This year, however, the Printing Department is elated with the acquisition of an AFT typesetter and an AFT photosetter ($19,000 is the value of both machines). With this equipment the students in the print shop have the opportunity to work with machinery that would be the envy of any private shop.

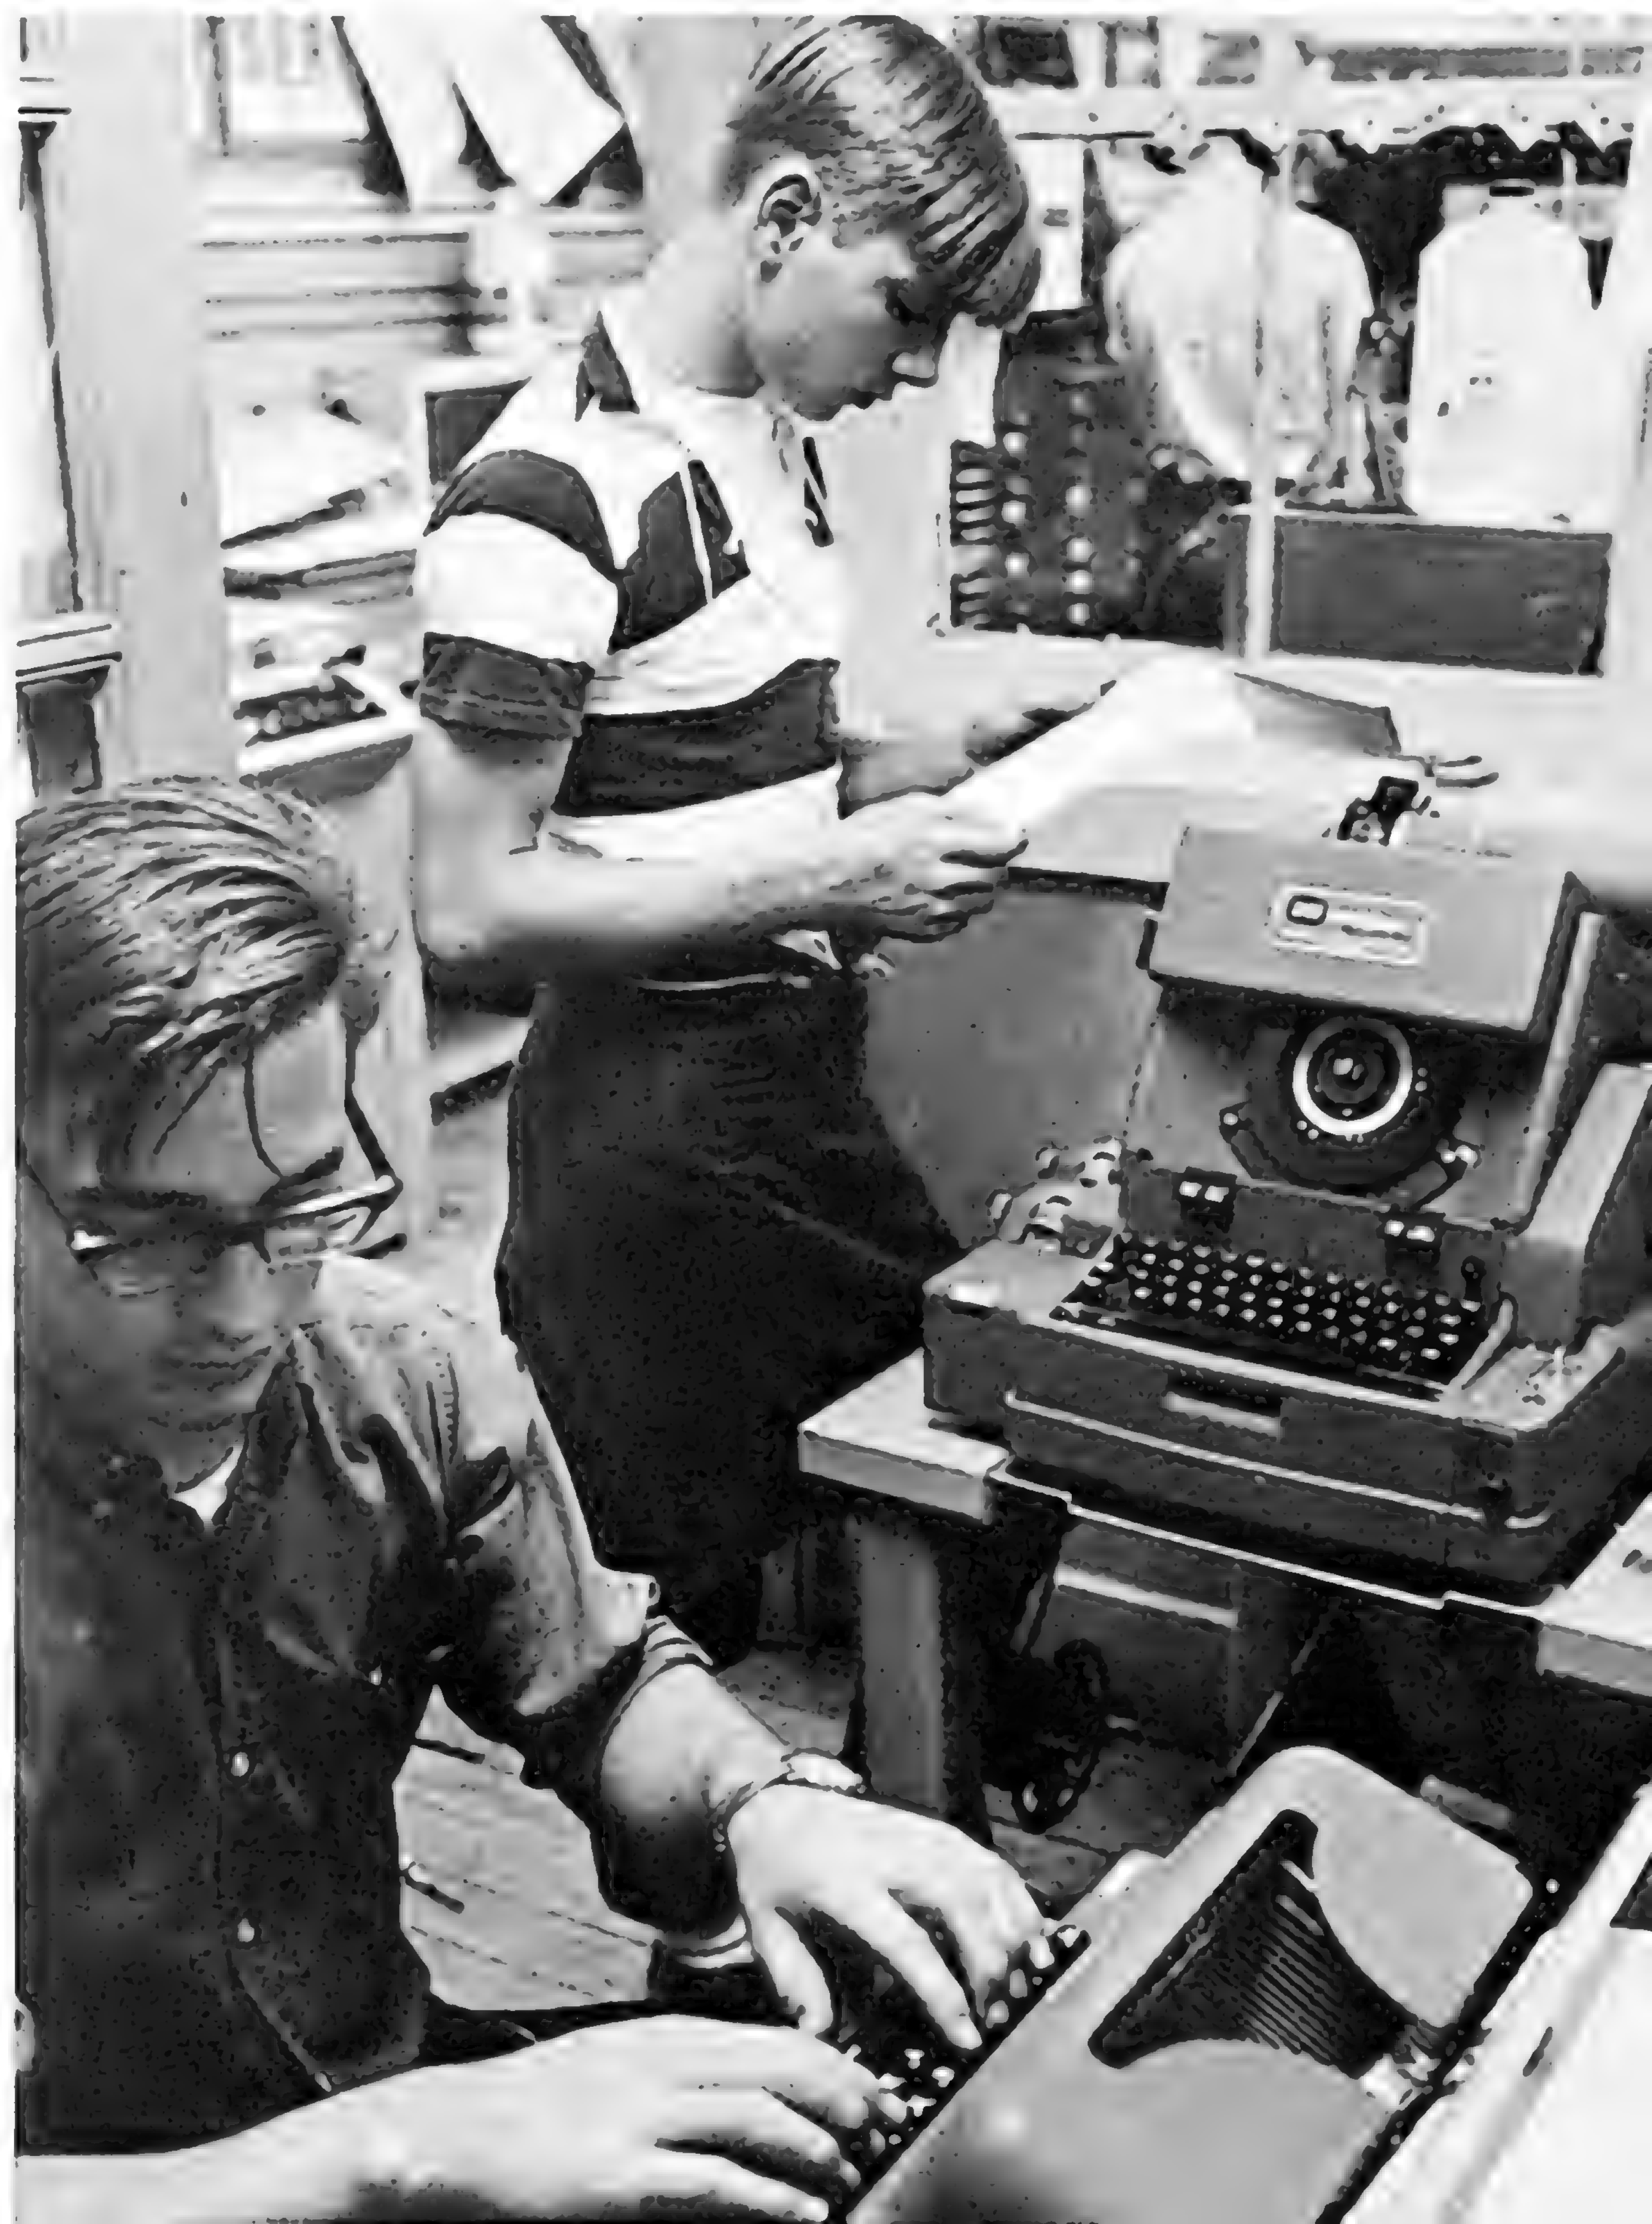

One of the many lesson units in the Retail Sales Course is the attractive display of sales items. Miss Anne Nugent suggests a change in the display case in 107 to Kathy Walsh and Teresa Purcell.

Household Arts encompasses all phases of home management from buying foods to home nursing. Miss Marion Willis, Head, and Miss Margaret Manvel supervise Maureen Kilfeather and Donna Lacey in the kitchen unit. Absent: Miss Florence Riley.

Mrs. Stephens instructs her class on some of the fundamentals of typing.

Need a bulletin in a hurry? Need six hundred copies of an objective test? Need assistants to staff school offices? Need yearbook copy typed in a hurry?

You name the job, and the Commercial Department can supply just the right one to fill it, from the girl who answers the phone in the main office to the girl who types the daily bulletin. Countless are the jobs accomplished by this department day in and day out.

The finest part about all the work these students and teachers perform so gracefully is that all these aspects are such excellent training for the positions they hope to fill after graduation.

Margaret Ali, Adell Roraback, Diane Mansen, Maureen McGlynn, and Wendy Hela observe Mrs. Thomas at the data processing board.

A peek over the shoulders of bookkeeping students reveals the concentration that is necessary in keeping careful records.

Helping with preparation of yearbook copy keeps students in Miss Enright's classes on their toes.

Susan Boivin and Heather Holmes get a real test in office practice as they carefully file pupils' schedules for the main office.

Dr. Morton Wayne, Director of Music, instructs his class in harmony.

Mr. Morris Bennett gives his art studio class constructive criticism.

Mrs. Nancy Delaiti and Mr. Morris Bennett discuss a student creation.

Guidance aid smoothes many rocky paths

Mr. Charles E. Murphy, Director of Guidance for Pittsfield public schools.

For most seniors, as well as under-classmen, the Guidance Office is as familiar as homeroom. Here we meet our counselors to go over any problems that may arise in schedules or in college applications, and here we receive kindly but firm and solid advice. Here our parents are welcome to come for individual conferences.

In a room rich with college catalogues, brochures and pamphlets on vocational opportunities, we are free to browse at leisure and to take materials on loan for home consultations.

Regardless of curriculum, the Guidance Office stands with open door to aid us now and in the future.

Mrs. Rita Moyer and Mrs. Gladys Hickey of the office staff handle many messages during the course of the day.

Boys' Counselors, Mr. William Hayes, Mr. Ralph Gionet, Mr. Walter Reagan, Head Guidance Counselor, and Mr. Edmund Plummer engage in a brief discussion during a quiet moment.

Students examine a few of the many college bulletins available in the Guidance Office.

Dancing juniors venture through Friday, June 3, 1966, Juniors and their guests entered the world of Alice and all her friends. From the passageway, our Hall of Mirrors, we stepped into the fantasy of "Through the Looking Glass."

The gym had been transformed into a true Wonderland. The Queen of Hearts and all her royal companions smiled down at us from their places on the walls. The towering flowers of the center arrangement dwarfed us as they had Alice. While Tweedledum and Tweedledee clicked their heels together on the wall, we danced to the music of John Galletly and his orchestra.

The tunnel, in which weary dancers rested, sang to us through the quaint verses from Lewis Carroll's book, cleverly mounted around us. Sophomores were our hostesses for the evening.

Following the Prom, many went to the Bubble Room for further dancing, a mid-night supper, and all-night bowling. The pool was in constant use, sometimes without choice. As we went home, we remembered this verse from the program:

*Thus grew the tale of wonderland
Thus slowly one by one,
Its quaint events were hammered out—
And now the tale is done
And home we steer, a merry crew,
Beneath the setting sun.*

October elections produce leaders

Bright tags hanging from purses and button-holes, booster buttons, and colorful posters on display in the cafeteria signaled the start of senior elections. After two weeks of hurried campaigning, on October 21 the voting machines were set up in the tunnel, and our class went to the polls.

That day we chose the senior officers from a field of well qualified candidates. With activities ranging from athletics to after-school jobs, our leaders are typical examples of P.H.S. enthusiasm, full of the school spirit and the will to make the Class of 1967 a standout in school history.

Taking time to enjoy one of the "way out" posters are Leslie Gardieff, Carol Congdon, and Linda Glander.

Student government active at two levels

No organization can function without leadership and direction. So with a school population of over 2600 and a class membership of over 800, a governing body is important.

We find our class leadership in our officers, of course; but they in turn are accountable to a Senior Class Council made up of senior homeroom representatives, who meet with the officers to solve class problems.

Likewise, on a school-wide basis, the Student Council, under the advisorship of Mr. Frank Blowe, serves as a liaison between the administration and the student body.

The double sessions restrained the Pep Club in its efforts to organize, but "Where there's a will, there's a way." Peppy, petite Miss Virginia Sheinhouse, new faculty advisor, demonstrated such a contagious spirit of enthusiasm that the club now numbers 850.

The highlight of the football season was the Bonfire Rally held at Wahconah Park. We enjoyed the skits and cheered with all our might. We hope this will continue and become a tradition at P.H.S.

personified

If you judge a school by its leaders, then P.H.S. should rate high on pep and enthusiasm, for these qualities certainly mark the nine young ladies in purple and white who lead us in all athletic events.

Long hours of practice and work-outs at games do not end their duties: there are posters to make, Pep Club meetings to attend, new cheers to create, and a Rally Dance to sponsor on the eve of the St. Joe game, where, true to form, they defeated the St. Joe cheerleaders in the annual tug-of-war.

Leading a cheer at the Brockton rally are Barb Walcott, Lynn Murphy, and Cris Sawicki.

The dream of most sophomore girls during their first year at the High School is to be chosen as a Cadette.

The Cadettes stand out in all school functions. During the year they march at the football games and parades, cheer at rallies, sponsor a fashion show, and perform varied community services.

In the spring of 1966 the Junior Cadettes were invited to accompany their senior sisters to Washington. This was an unprecedented event. During their stay, they visited many of the federal buildings and museums, met Representative Silvio Conte, and, as a climax to their trip, dined at Holgates and afterward went to see Doctor Zhivago.

Under the supervision of their beloved advisor, Miss "Mac," the Cadettes are a credit to Pittsfield High School.

G. A. A. fills gap created by double sessions

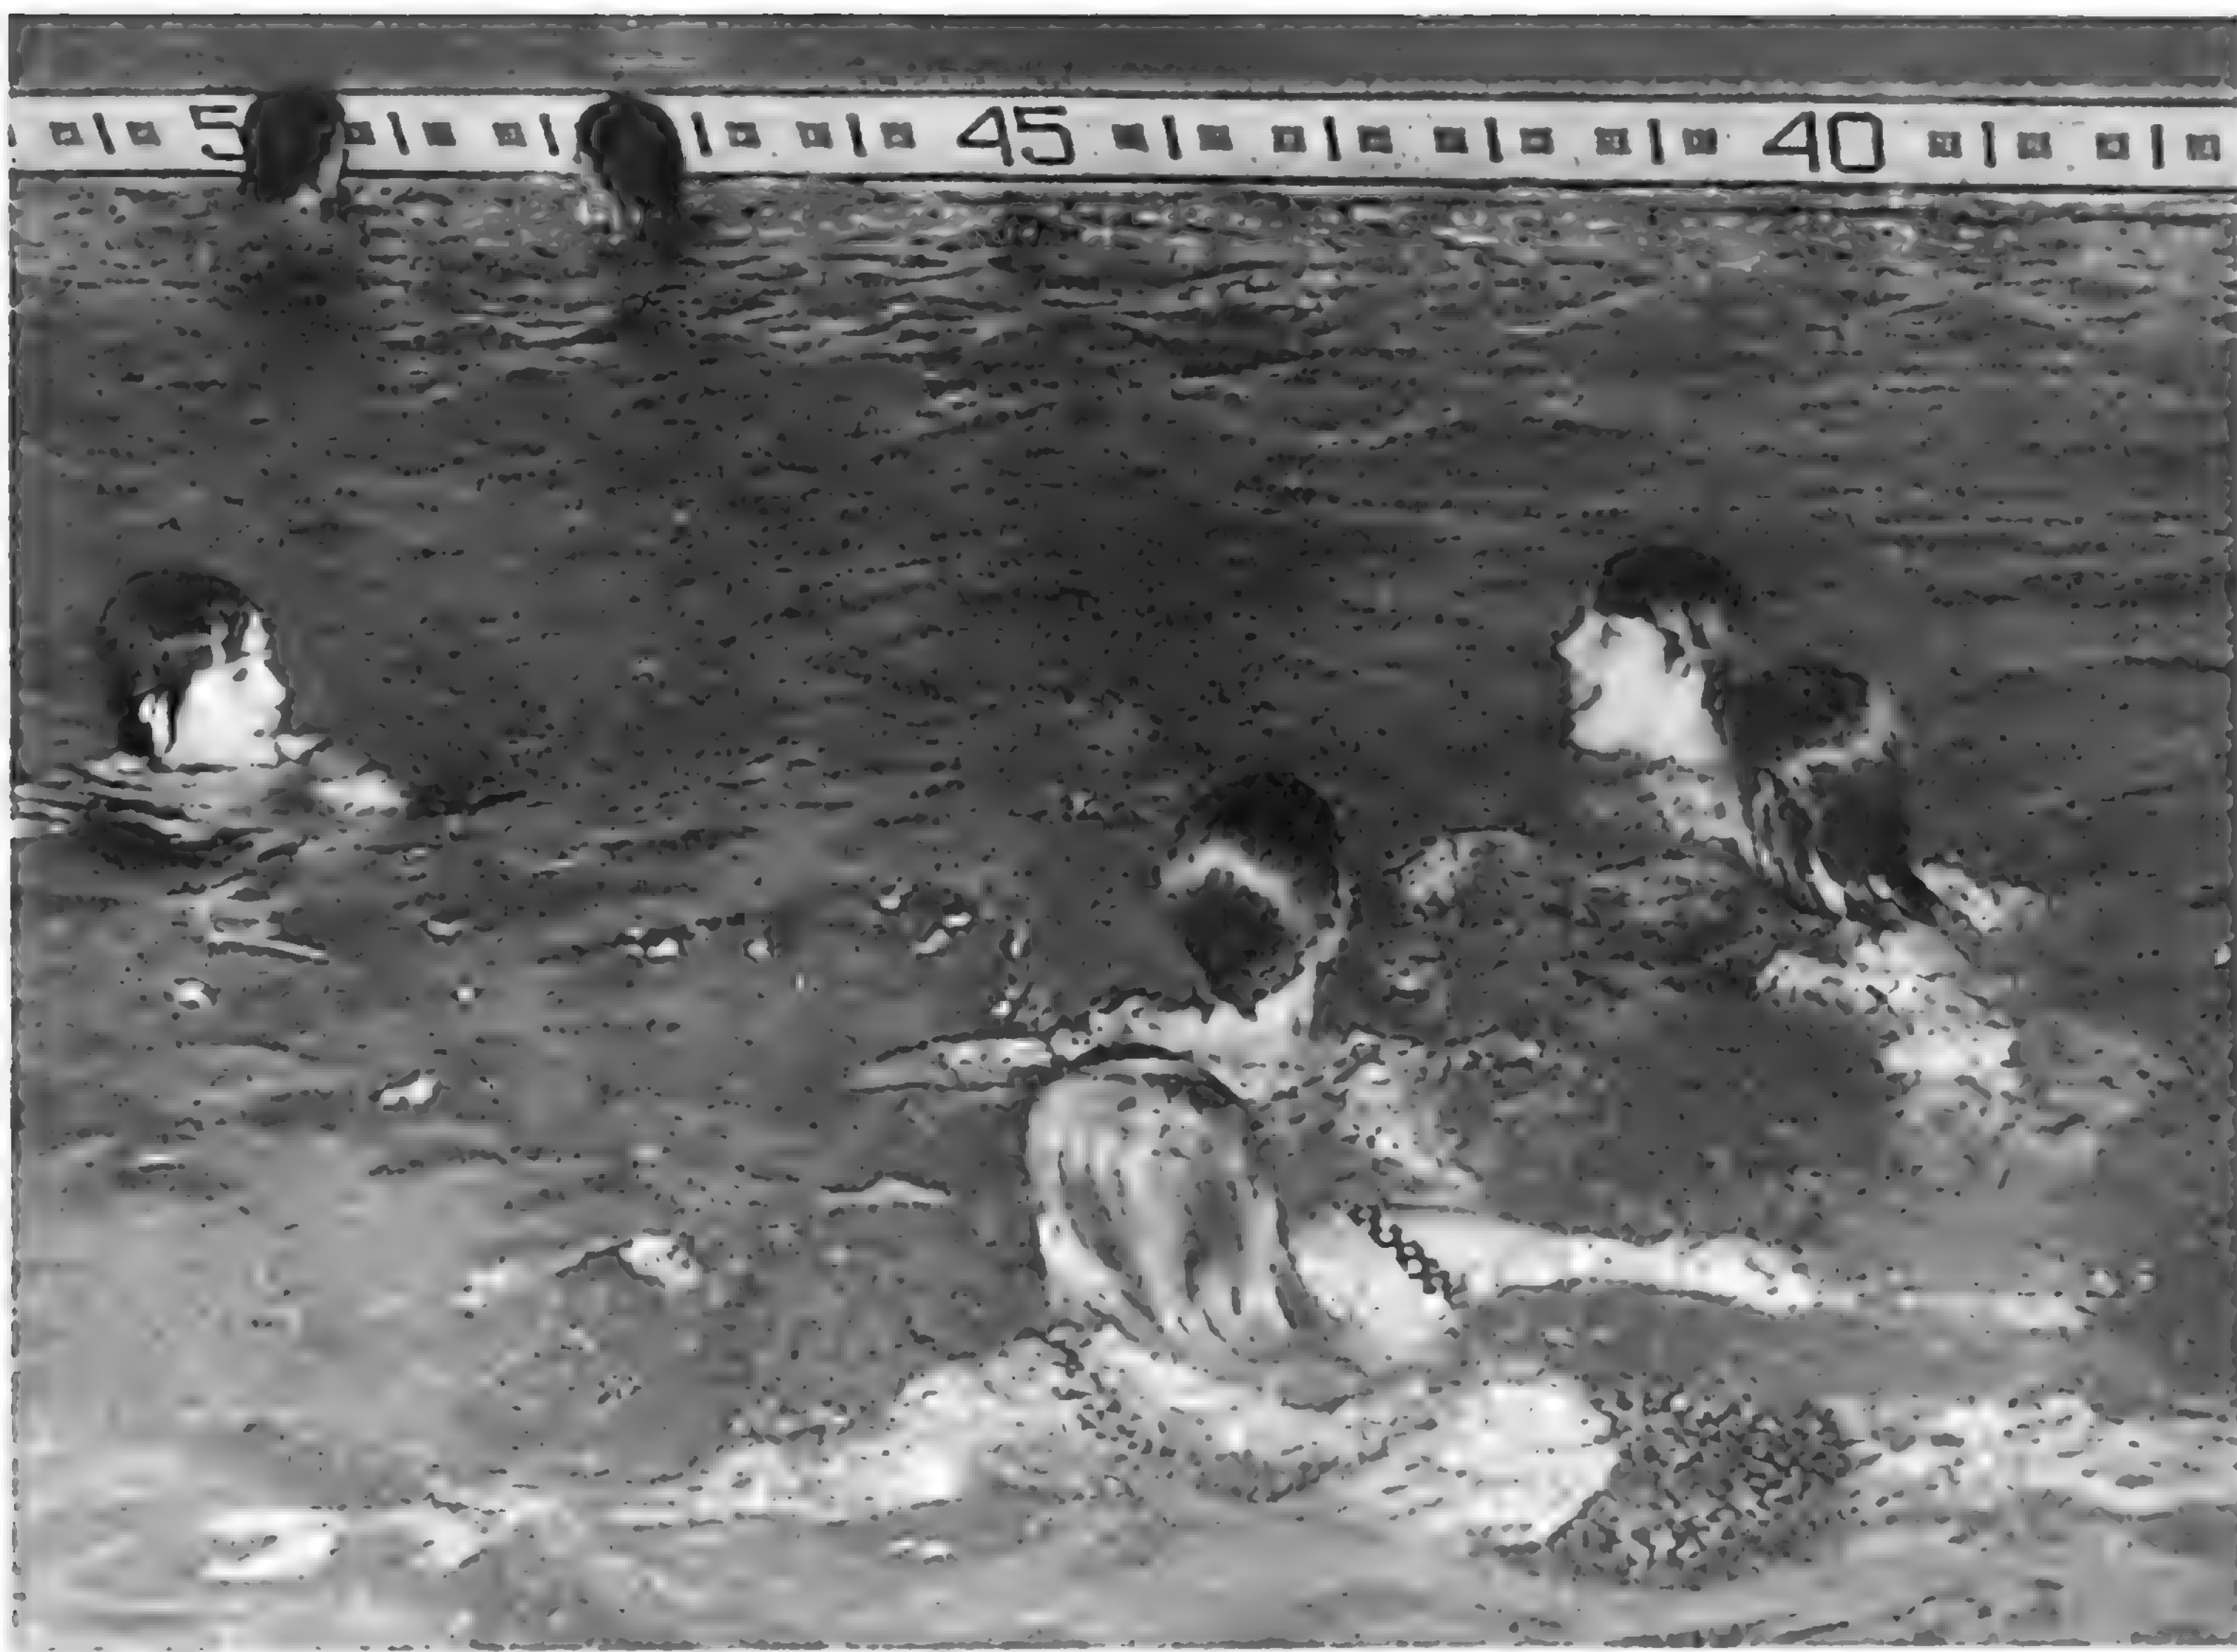

Senior Board Member Pat Koza and President Ann Majchrowski discuss future events.

When the girls' after-school athletic program seemed a certain victim of double sessions, the G.A.A. stepped in to provide a full schedule of sports and social events.

The fall program included round-robin and varsity volleyball, a trip to the Ice Capades, three hay-rides, and a volleyball playday for sophomores. In winter G.A.A. offered basketball, Christmas caroling at local nursing homes, a co-ed volleyball night, a ski night and a splash party.

Over four hundred couples danced to the music of Alan Grieve's Orchestra at the annual Valentine Dance under the chairmanship of Cande Grieve.

Spring brought the badminton tournament and softball intramural program, as well as basketball and gymnastics play days, roller skating and bowling parties and, last of all, the annual banquet at the Stanley Club.

Scheduling pictures and moving staff quarters from room to room because of double sessions created nightmares for the editors of the 1967 Dome. This resulted in the reduction of staff members to a hard-working nucleus of associate editors.

When editors' meetings began in summer, a major decision was made to block senior pictures and to list extracurricular activities in a directory at the end.

Thanks to the boundless energy of Editor Terry Hanlon, his staff and advisors, the Dome met every deadline.

This year our two school publications, In General and The Student's Pen, have again done a fine job of keeping the student body well informed. In General, now in its third year of existence, has filled the need for a comprehensive school newspaper. Under the able direction of Shaun Harrington, Editor-in-Chief, it provides up-to-date school news, sports coverage, current events, and pointed editorials.

Bob Sandler, Editor of The Student's Pen, directed the production of our literary magazine. The Pen provides the needed stimulus for our budding short story writers, poets, essayist, and artists. The result is an outstanding publication with a wealth of creative work.

Art is vital to this publication, and Bob Sweeney, Art Editor, with the aid of Mrs. Delaiti and his staff makes it so.

Personal interpretation and expression

Writers, artists, and speakers have the opportunity to project their individual talents through the Creative Writers and Illustrators Club and the Debate Club.

Very imaginative and dramatic is the former club. Each Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Schlawin and Mrs. Delaiti head the creators into another session. Highlights of this year are an inspirational trip to the abandoned Colt mansion on Colt Road and impromptu dramatic presentations involving the audience, or "happenings."

This club, which devotes a great deal of time to the creative arts, enlists the most imaginative

Though more objective yet still creative, the Debate Club has enjoyed another successful season not only in winning percentage but also in self-expression.

Led by Mr. David Peirce, the team competes in the Berkshire County Forensic League. Each team usually hosts a tournament, but P.H.S. has been unable to do so because of double sessions.

Just as in football, it is not winning that counts, but how you play the game. The Debate Club may not win every match, but their spirit is infectious.

As one of their projects Judy LaBarbera leaps from a table to provide a model of motion. Luckily Danny Ropelewski is there to catch her. The members are to represent what they see in either a verbal or an artistic creation.

Silhouetted by the afternoon sun, Dave Loehr is eagerly putting the finishing touches on a portrait.

Critical analysis of one another's work is one of the functions of the Creative Writers and Illustrators.

These debaters benefit from the critiques of their last debate.

As the debate draws to a close, Elaine Diamond fires her rebuttal at the opposition.

During the busy hours of the DECA Coffee Hour, Cheryl Stokes serves Mr. Gionet, as Sally Batory watches.

prepare for future

DECA (Distributive Education Clubs of America) and JETS (Junior Engineering Technical Society) provide students with supplementary career experience. Through DECA, students interested in retailing have enjoyed informative speakers and field trips to such stores as G. Fox and Macy's. Future engineers in JETS have heard lectures by speakers distinguished in technical fields, have made field trips to several area industries and have worked on many technical projects.

Allen Taylor, Joe Carnevale, Mike Pedroza, and David Fuller discuss a futuristic car designed by David Genest.

Learning about the Dynamic Demonstrator are Raymond Frankel, Andrew Glassanos, Mark Lipton, and Clark Nichols.

Officers of the JETS for 1967 are Paul Sturgis, President; Gary Curry, Vice-President; Bill Adamczyk, Treasurer; and Tom Salamone, Secretary.

First officers of the newly formed Radio Club are Secretary-Treasurer Keith Davis, President James Wiehl, and Vice-President Dennis Vaccaro.

Good song and good cheer make Christmas

Our chorus displayed their singing talents as they added that necessary something to the program.

Christmas 1967 brought the one-act play "Christmas on Erie Street" to the P.H.S. auditorium. This production, depicting Christmas Eve in a large city, was well received and set the mood for our coming holidays.

Following the performance, the Choraleers, under the direction of Dr. Wayne, presented not only the traditional Christmas favorites, but also a number of other selections. A newly formed group, The Madrigal Singers, pleased the audience with a presentation of folk carols.

Their music brought the program to a close, but the gay spirit they engendered lingered in our hearts.

Peter Soldato helped to disguise the many unseen props which created a "little Christmas" in our lobby.

Co-Chairmen Pat Kowalcyk and Donne Marchetto, who organized this annual affair, deserve the thanks of the Class of '67.

Spirit at P.H.S.

Bob Sweeney directs his creative ability to shaping and trimming our beautiful tree.

Our stage crew made the backstage area a lively place for anyone willing to work hard for their fun.

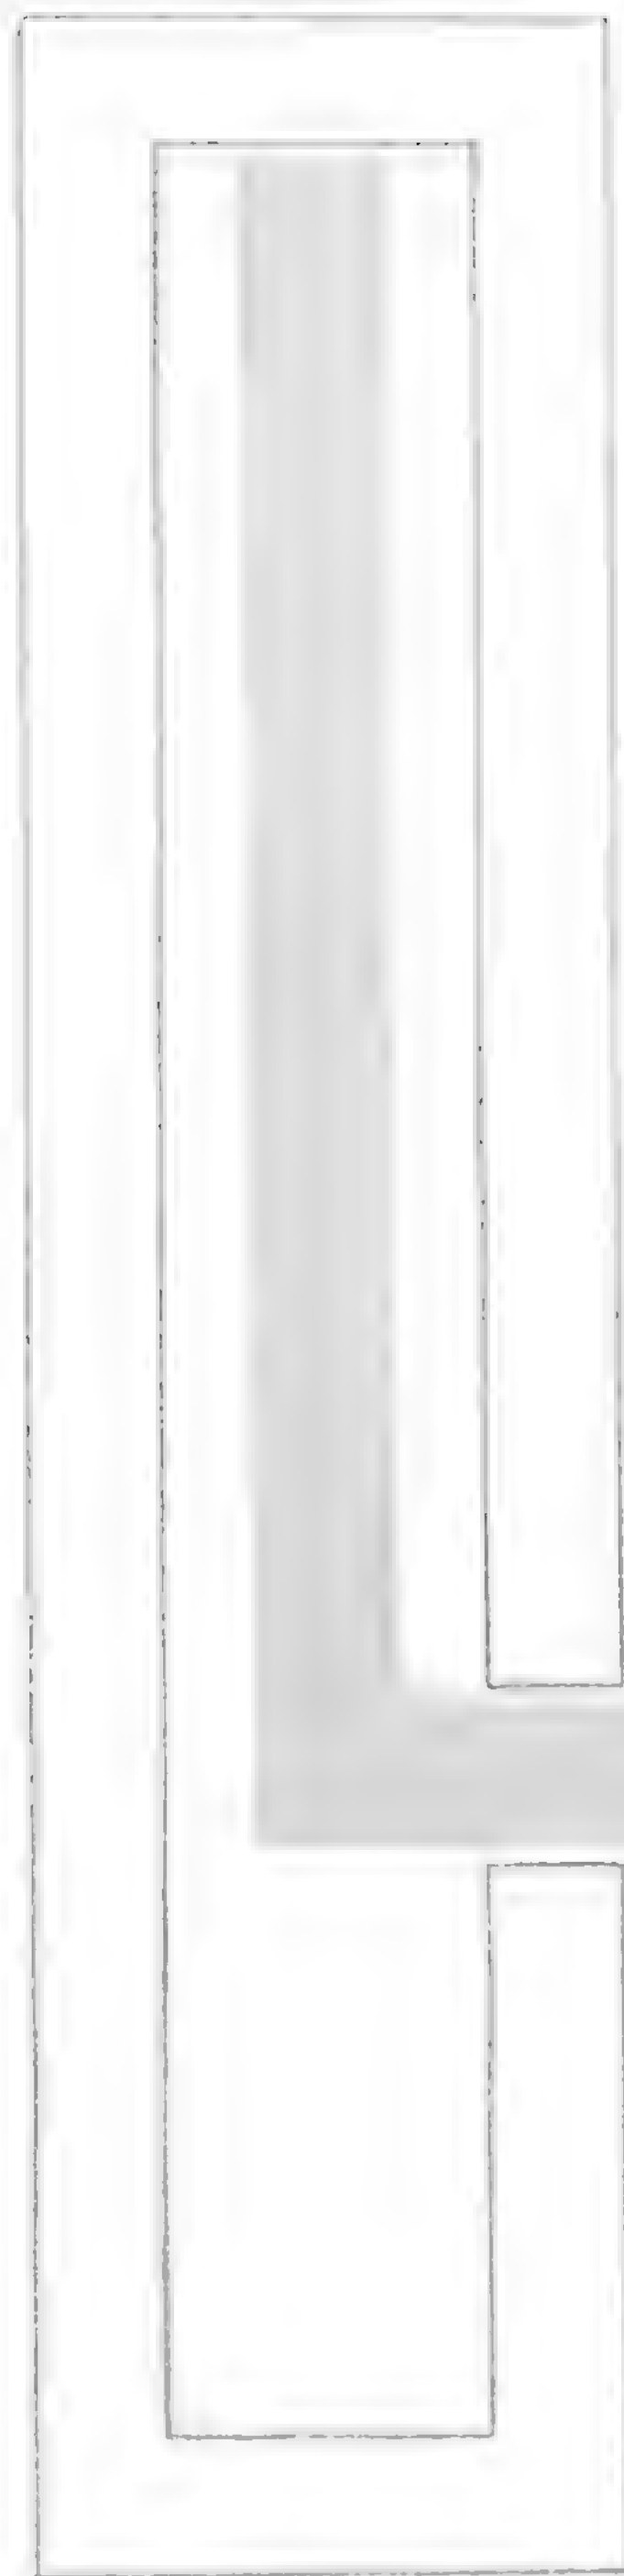

Climax of the skit was a slight fracas between Mike O'Brien (bottom) and Peter Kiernan (top).

Another musical highlight of the program was the Madrigal Singers, whose well-harmonized renditions kept the party going.

SPORTS

Muddy Stan Wojtkowski gets a breather during Pittsfield's 6-0 victory over St. Joe.

P. H. S. blanks St. Joe to capture city title

Pittsfield High's 1966 football squad completed another spirited season with a proud 6-2 record. Although placing second in the Western Massachusetts Class "A" League, the team tallied an impressive margin of winning points over their opponents, as the Generals racked up 146 and gave up only 65.

Despite the burdensome problems of night practice and double sessions, Coach Joseph Gleason again produced a fine team. Tony Gibson, Co-Captain Jim Whitfield and Tom Barry led the team in scoring. Their achievement was due, in part, to our nearly impregnable forward line and to the outstanding work of Co-Captain Cliff Perkins and Paul Germanowski.

Losing their first game to Springfield Tech, the Generals' will to win was evident throughout the remainder of the season. Our team shut out one half of the fall roster of opponents. St. Joseph's, Drury, and Brockton found Pittsfield's tough defense utterly impossible and were forced to accept defeat without scoring.

It was not until the final play-off game with Wahconah Regional that Pittsfield High took a disheartening defeat and gave up the championship. Our team's record, however, still speaks highly for the squad, one of which every General follower can be proud.

Soccer team has

With a respectable 7-3-2 record, its best showing in the team's three year history, the varsity soccer team completed a twelve game schedule. The General booters tied league-leading Wahconah twice and piled up six victories before bowing to Lenox Prep and Searles. After defeating Mount Greylock, Pittsfield awaited the league playoff with Wahconah Regional. Both teams fought so well in this match that the first three quarters proved scoreless. Then, with only six seconds remaining in the game, Wahconah slammed home a penalty kick to win.

Pittsfield, although disappointed with only a second in the league, played fine soccer throughout the season. Mark Samale and Co-Captain Terry Goodrich led the General attack with eight and four goals respectively. Goalie Gene Kraay, supported by a tough defensive unit, played four shutouts and held six opposing teams to a single point apiece. The team's overwhelming success was due largely to the coaching ability of Ralph Gionet, who overcame the problems of the team's inexperience to mold a strong winning combination.

Pittsfield second in Oneonta Tournament

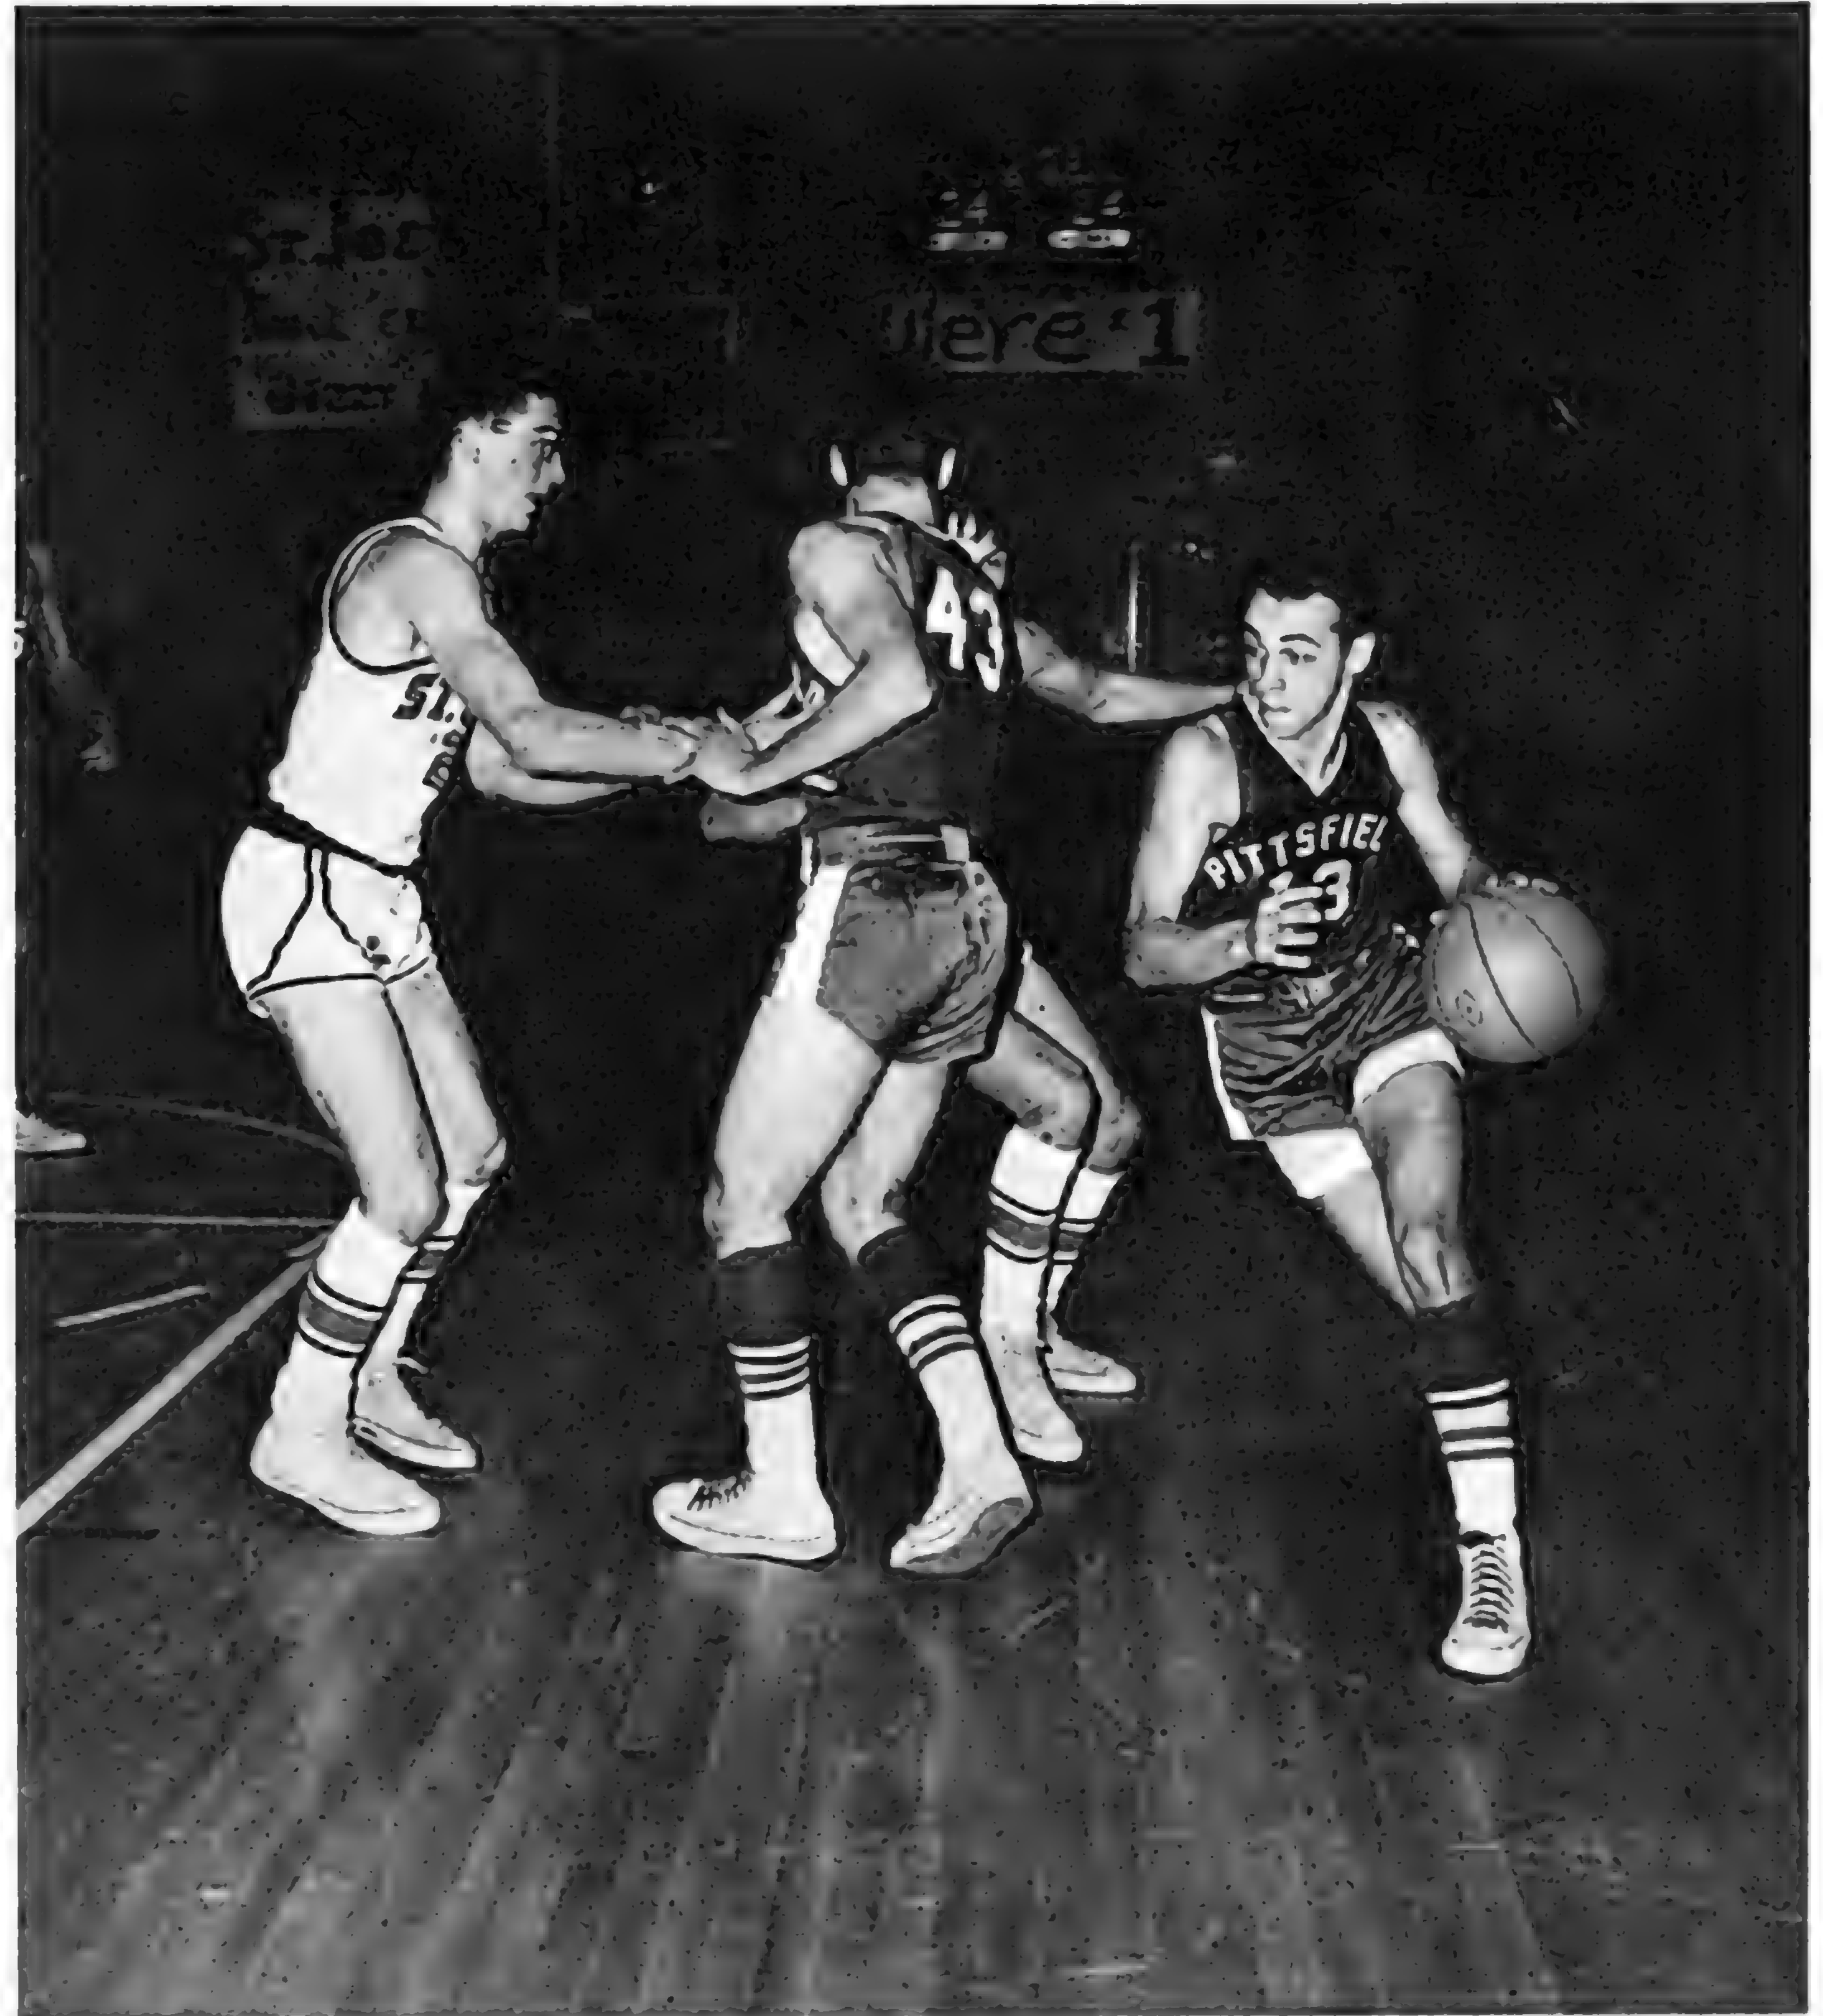

Although finishing third in the Northern Berkshire League, Coach Frank J. Moynihan's squad was chosen to participate in two tournaments. The Oneonta Holiday Tournament gave the squad valuable experience, and their fine play earned the second-place trophy.

After winning the play-off with Drury, the Generals entered the Western Mass. Tournament with a 13-8 record and bowed to Chicopee, tourney champions.

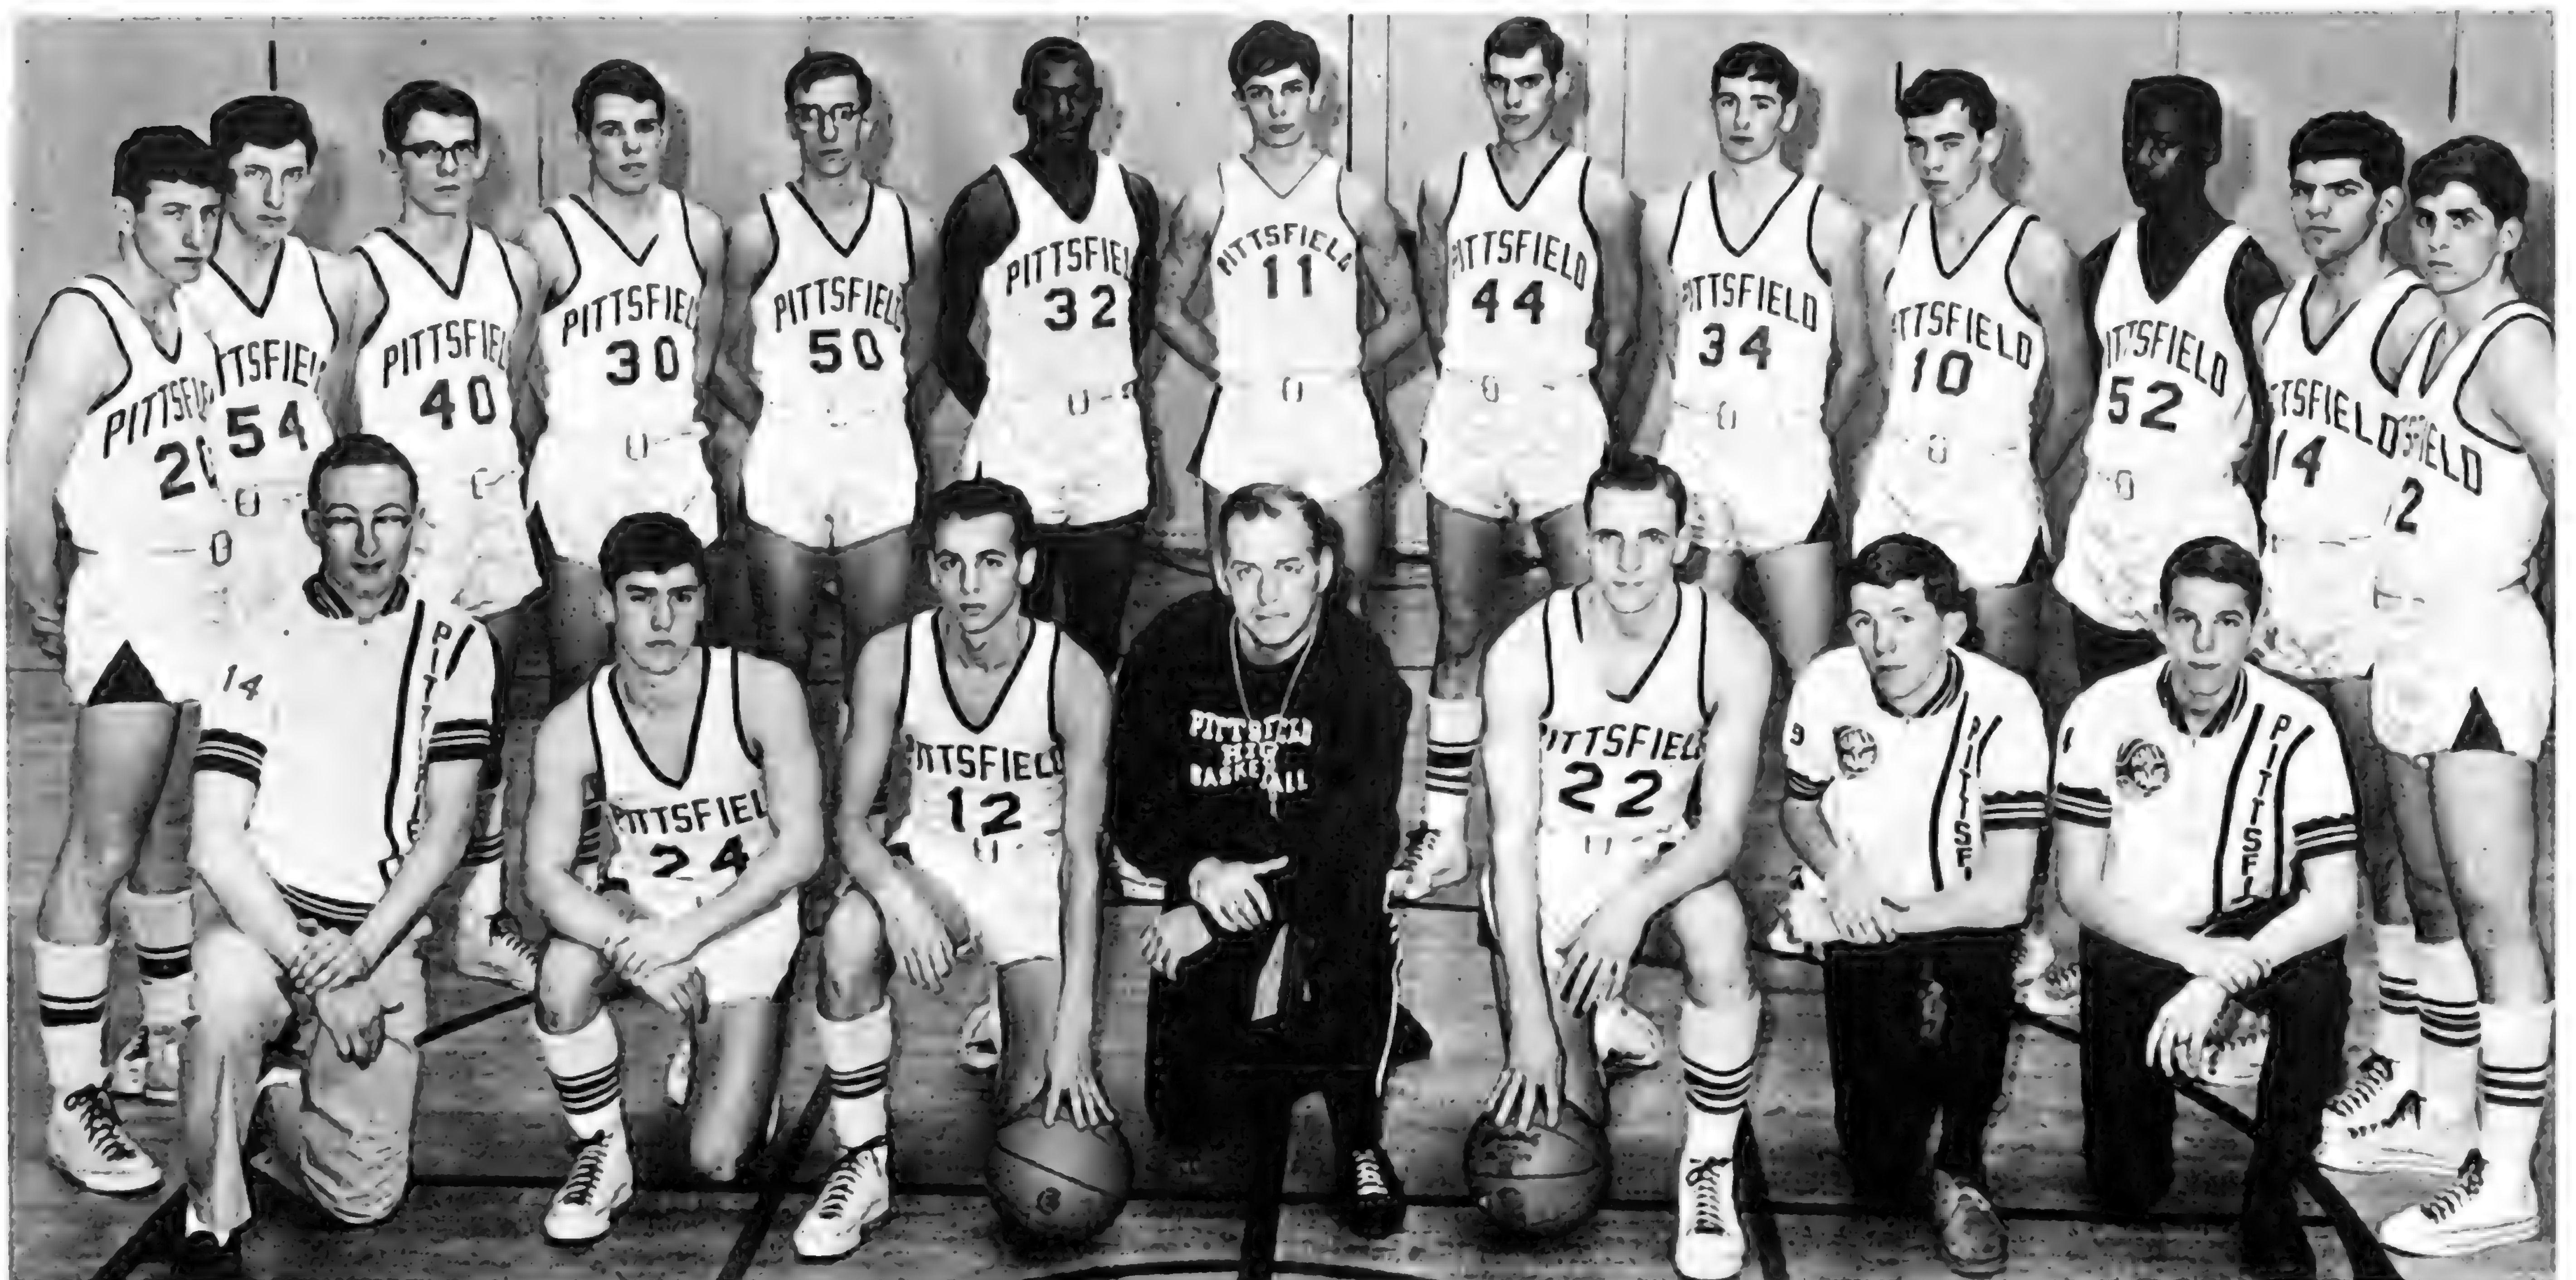

Gene Kraay, leading rebounder, and John Wilk, top scorer, were offensive standouts; star defense man was Craig Leslie. In Coach Moynihan's words, "loyal workers" contributing to team morale included seniors Olds, Pictrowski, Moore, Connor, Massery and Discoe.

Skiers retain Interscholastic title

In a tremendously successful season, the ski team defeated four area public and preparatory schools. The biggest singular achievement was the recapturing of the Berkshire Interscholastic title.

To win this, the team must gain the highest number of points in two main events, the Alpine and Nordic. In the jumping, Jimmy Latimer racked up 138.4 points with two 72-footers; and his team mates, Tom Zanconato and Ned Dripps, tallied 130.6 and 102.3 points respectively, leading the team to a final score of 361.855. Dave Eames finished second in the cross-country, just twenty-three seconds out of first place.

Coach Rudy Benedetti and his skiers certainly deserve recognition for this, the seventh winning season.

Pittsfield High nabs Fay Division

Pittsfield High's Hockey Generals skated to their first Fay Division Championship by rolling up an 11-2-3, 25 point record. The win gave Pittsfield a position at the Western Massachusetts Hockey Tournament in Springfield.

An outstanding front line supported by a powerful defense and an all-sophomore second string offense added up to the big number one for Coach Blowe's puckmen.

Leading Pittsfield's attack was Captain Mike Caritey, highest scorer in the Western Massachusetts League, with 41 points on 22 goals and 19 assists. Close behind him was wing Paul Vacchina, who scored 22 goals and 15 assists. Completing the highly respected P.H.S. offense was Bobby Fitzgerald, also a high scorer with 9 goals and 17 assists.

After an early season search, Coach Blowe found a big defensive combination in Joe Kamienski and Tim Hannigan. With goalie Mike Hess, they consistently turned in outstanding performances.

Backing up Pittsfield's first line was a strong trio of sophomores. Known as the "Little Generals," center Dave Toomey and wings, Neil Eddy and Gene Fitzgerald, kept enemy defensemen frazzled while the P.H.S. first front line rested and regrouped. This allowed the veterans to return to the ice refreshed and thus contributed to team effectiveness throughout the championship season.

In its first year as a varsity team, Coach George Sylvester's wrestling squad finished the season with a 5-5 record. Outstanding individual records belong to Co-Captain Bill Choquette with a 9-1 tally, Co-Captain Bruce Pivero with 6-2, and Jim Whitfield with an 8-1 record.

Pittsfield found its problems with the Springfield area teams, which have had years of mat experience. The Generals had no trouble defeating four area opponents, including Darrow and Hoosac Prep Schools.

The highlight of the season was what Coach Sylvester termed "a real surprise," as we took second place in the Western Mass. Tournament.

HONORS

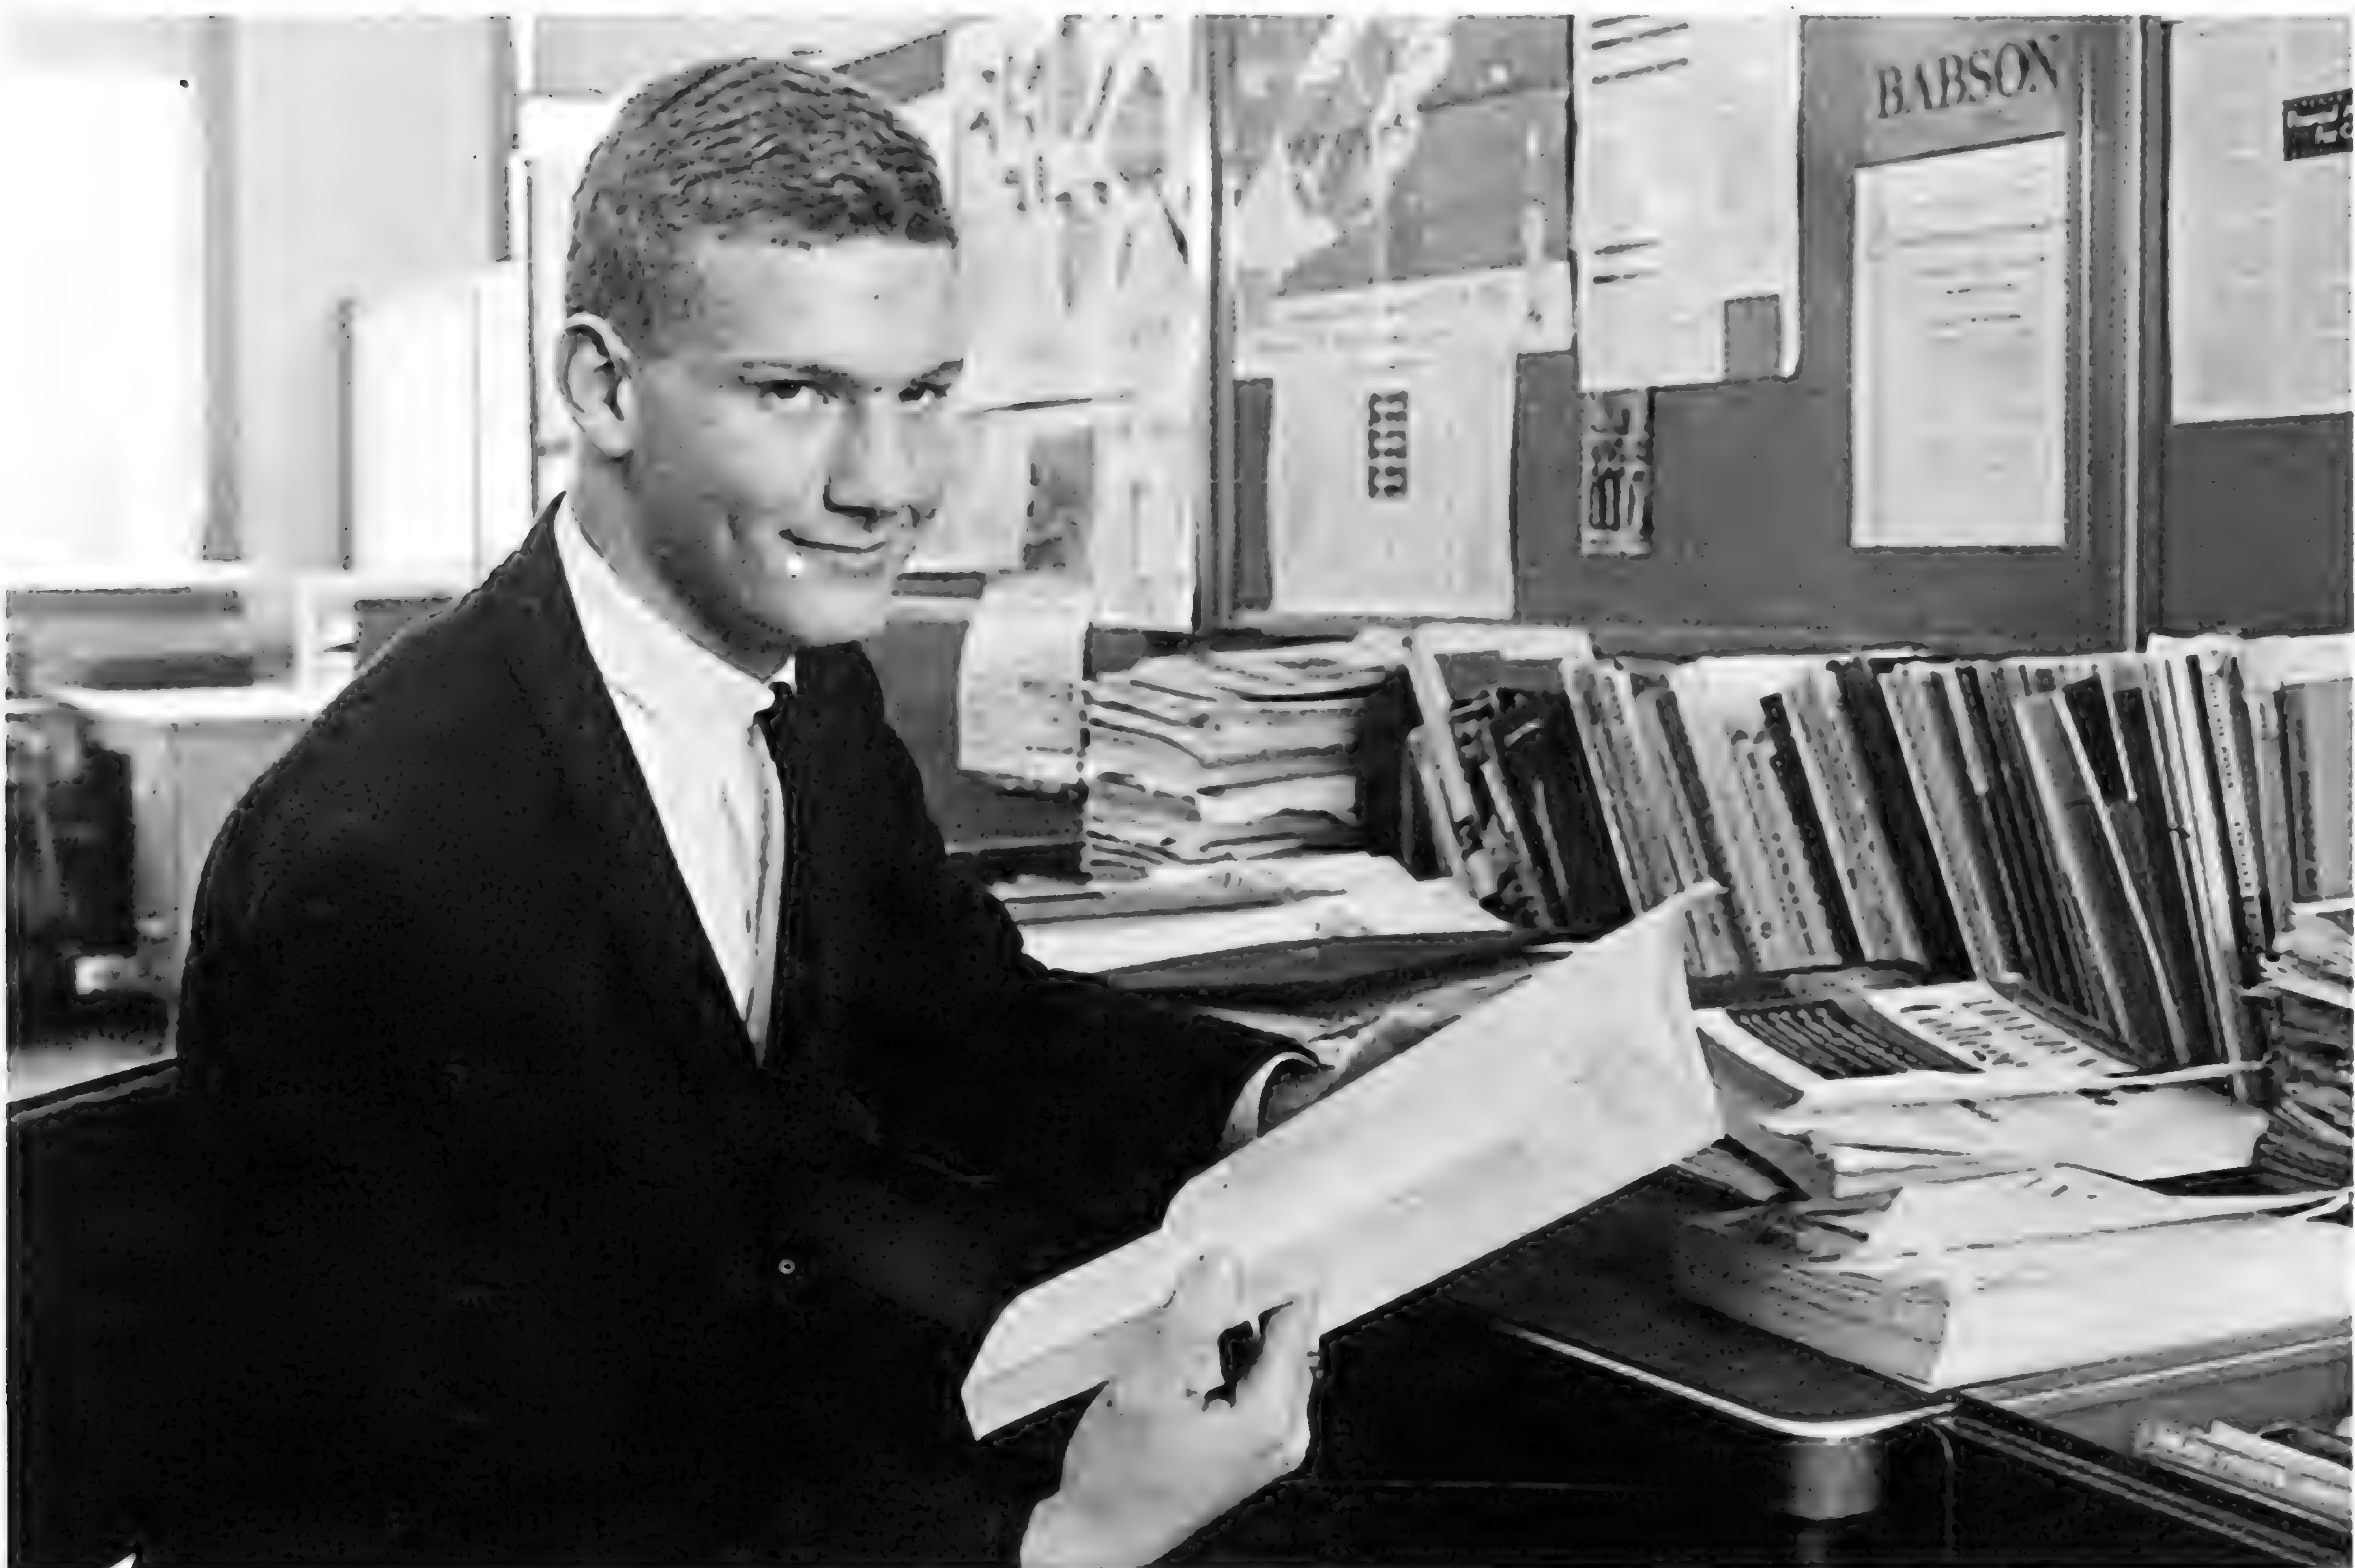

National Merit awards top honors to

This year the Senior Class is proud to have among its members five of the top scholars of the nation. Last March, along with 800,000 other students in the country, they took the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test. In September, as a result of their superior scores on the test, they earned the distinction of being named semi-finalists. This entitled them to compete further for scholarship awards.

Talented though they are intellectually, a review of their other achievements and activities reveals them to be well-rounded individuals with a wide range of pursuits and achievements.

Bob Sandler, as Editor-in-Chief of the Student's Pen, must spend much after-school time in preparing the magazine. An excellent student, Bob carries both Advanced Placement Chemistry and English. He is also an avid member of the track and the ski teams. Union College or Brown are his college choices, and he plans a medical career.

Jeff Books recently moved to Pittsfield from Ramsey, New Jersey. In Ramsey he was president of his high school audio-visual club. Here at Pittsfield High he is taking the straight college prep course. He would like to attend Bowdoin College to study for a career in industrial chemistry.

five P. H. S. seniors

A new member of our class, George Middleton moved here last year from Scotch Plains, New Jersey. George, an Honor Roll student, is carrying three Advanced Placement Courses (History, English and Calculus). As one of the ten top scholars in the country, he was granted a Lyndon B. Johnson Scholarship by the National Science Foundation. His future plans include mathematics study at Harvard University.

Cliff Perkins is a famous face on the sports scene. Co-Captain of the football team, he is also active in both the wrestling and track teams. Cliff is a member of the Advanced Placement Biology Class; however, in college he plans to major in English.

Laurel Burkinshaw can usually be found on the Honor Roll at the end of each term. Literary Editor of the Dome and a student in Advanced Placement Chemistry, versatile Laurel next year will enter the pre-med courses at Barnard College.

Kevin Moynihan, Mary Ellen Smith, Jim Long, and Gerald Barnett chat outside after a long day at school.

Free from the chaos inside, Nancy Nash, Michelle Champoux, Lynda Kresge, and Anne Wetzel meet to make after school plans.

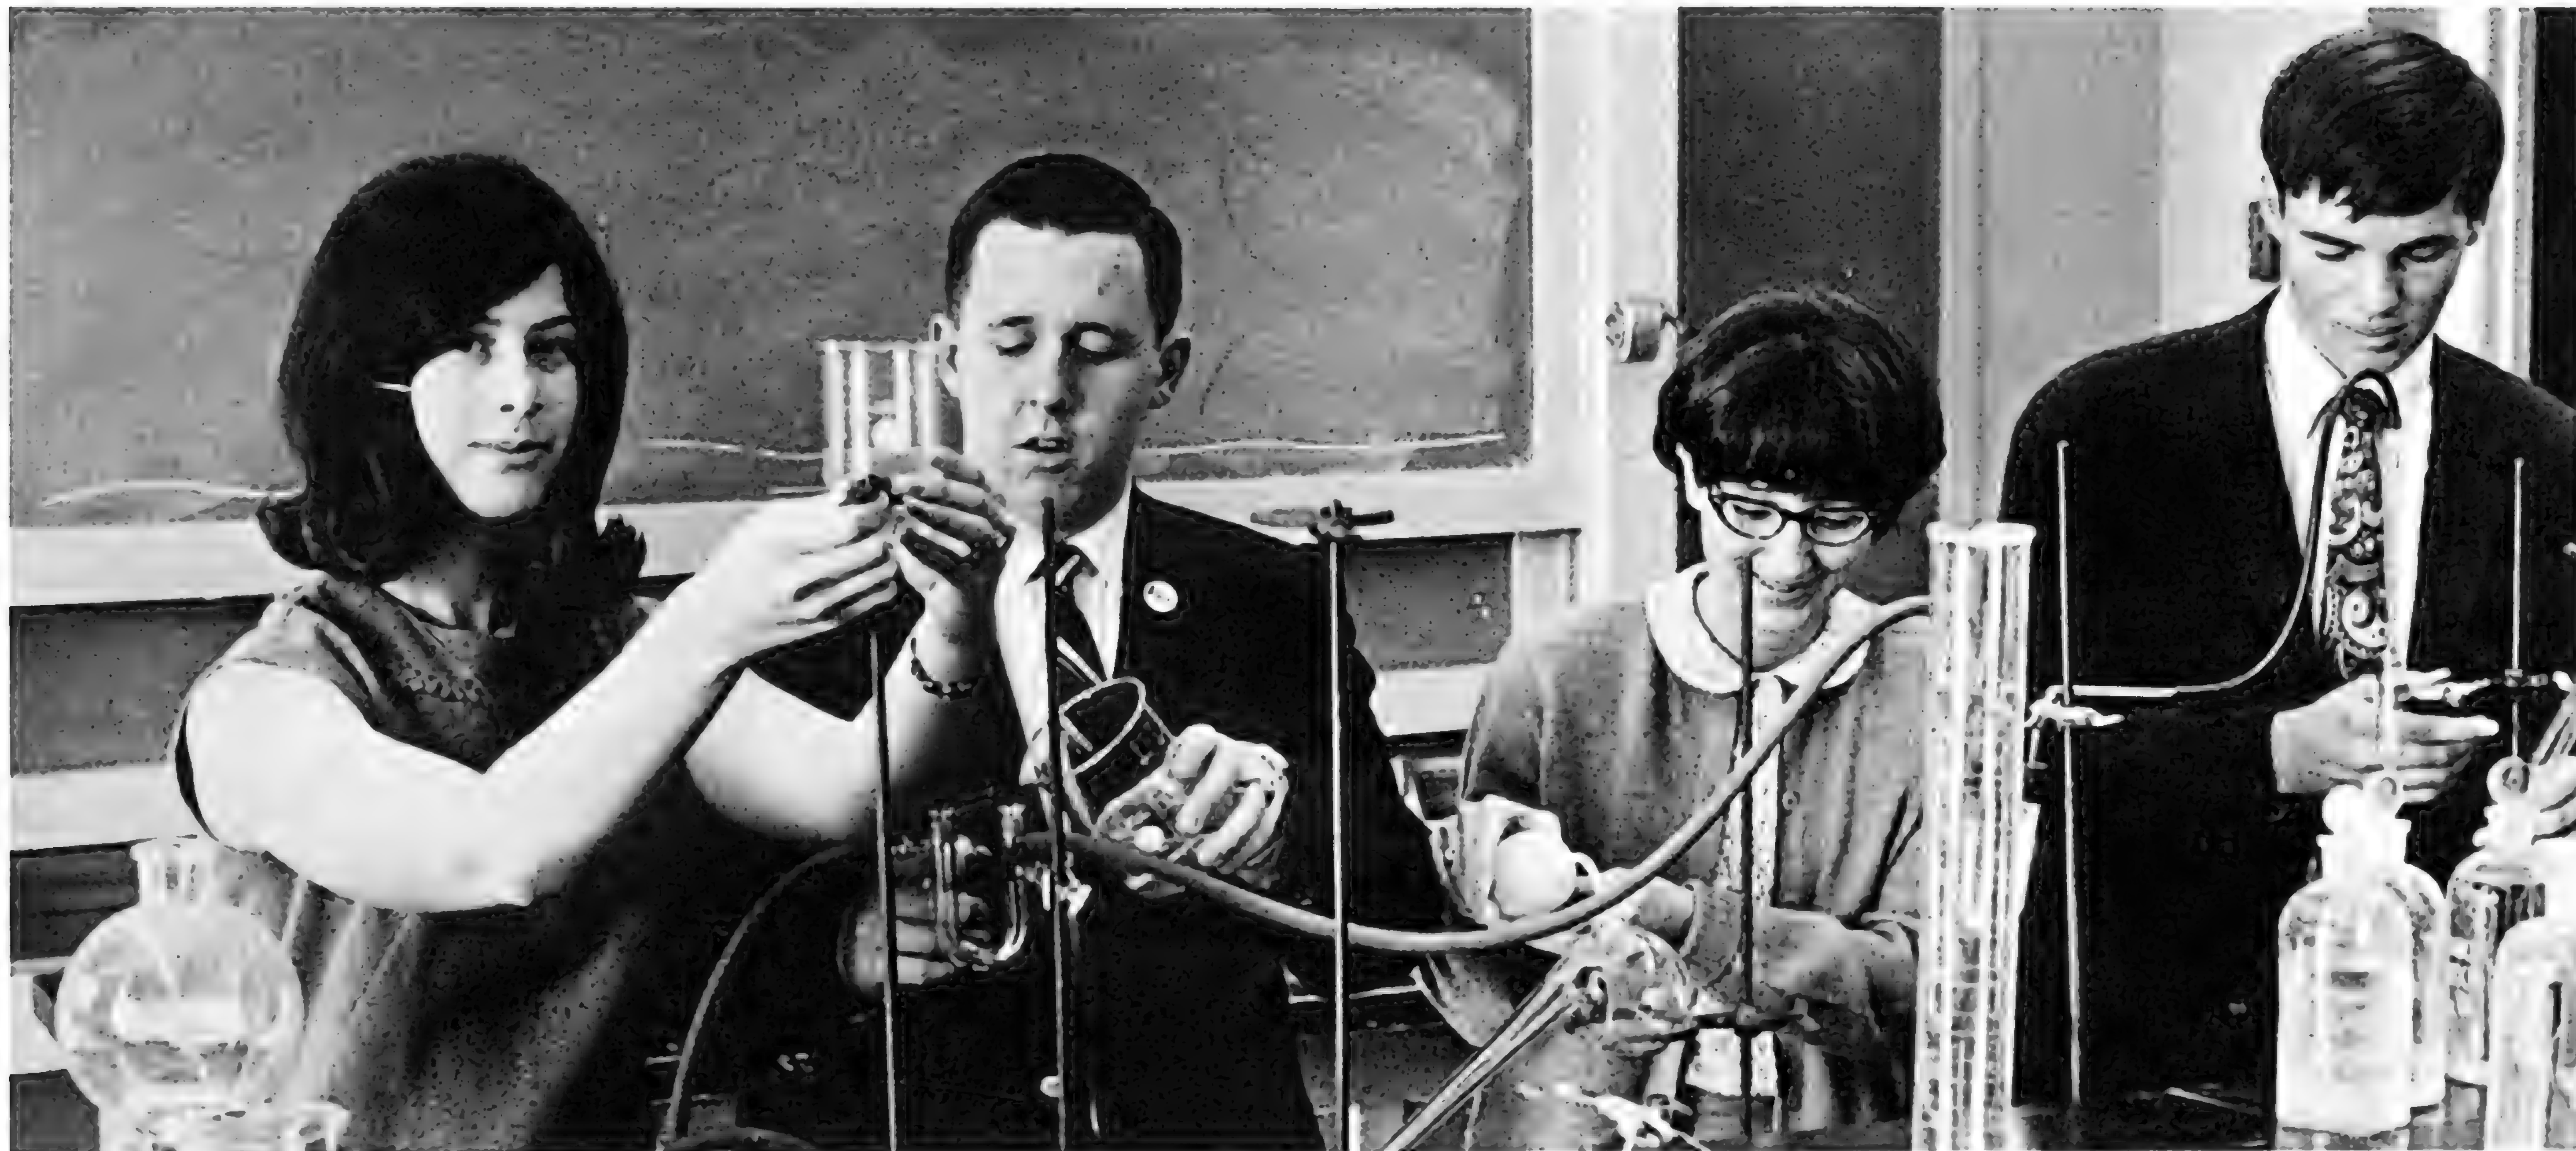

Twenty-five win

It seemed an ordinary October day when these twenty-five seniors were called down to Mr. Hennessy's office. Little did they know that on that day they would be awarded National Merit Letters of Commendation. By winning such recognition, these students have brought credit not only to themselves but also to our school.

Bob Pruyne supervises Dick Komuniecki, Alan McNeil, and Mike Stankiewicz as they solve a rather large math problem. Another winner, Lou Massery, was also an advanced math student.

Doreen Gluckin, Dan Ford, Alice Nacorchuk, and Alan Hardesty carefully tend what looks suspiciously like a still.

Merit Commendations

Joking between rehearsals are Fran Cross, Peter Loveless, June Haswell, and Alan Stanton.

Even Merit Lettermen get tired of school. Chatting in the shade are Regina Olchowski, Edward Karam, Kathy Polidoro, and Leslie Gardieff.

June Haswell won the Betty Crocker Homemaker Award this year by obtaining the highest score on a written test. Her score, one of the ten highest in the state, entered her into nationwide competition for a $5,000 scholarship.

Paul Sturgis, Donne Marchetto, Roger Douillette, and Lou Massery were delegates to the American legion-sponsored Boy's State at the University of Massachusetts. Five hundred boys from Massachusetts high schools attended. Their nine day stay included listening to political science lectures, establishing model local, state, and federal governments, and electing government officials.

Seniors win honors for excellence

This year's recipient of the Jewish War Veterans Brotherhood Award is Donne Marchetto. He was chosen for community interest, character, and scholastic achievement. Donne, an avid swimmer, is a lifeguard at the Boys' Club, where in 1965 he was chosen "Boy of the Year."

Each year the Peace Party Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, present a Good Citizenship Award. Ann Majchrowski, president of G.A.A., is this year's recipient of the medal which is given to the senior girl judged outstanding in leadership, service, dependability and patriotism.

in various fields

Beth Provost, for her ability, progress, and interest in the field of homemaking education, received an award of sterling silver flatware, given by the Sterling Silversmiths Guild of America.

On April 7 Daniel Ford represented Pittsfield High School at the annual Student Government Day in Boston. Danny is particularly qualified for this honor by his work with the Berkshire County Teenage Republican Club.

Our school years reflected before us

Our infamous bomb scares

Alane Guitian is measured for cap and gown.

Alone

An innovation for double-sessions — a combination collection for United Students Fund and a rally for the football team

Our all-important rings

Other scenes around the school

Decorating for the Junior Prom

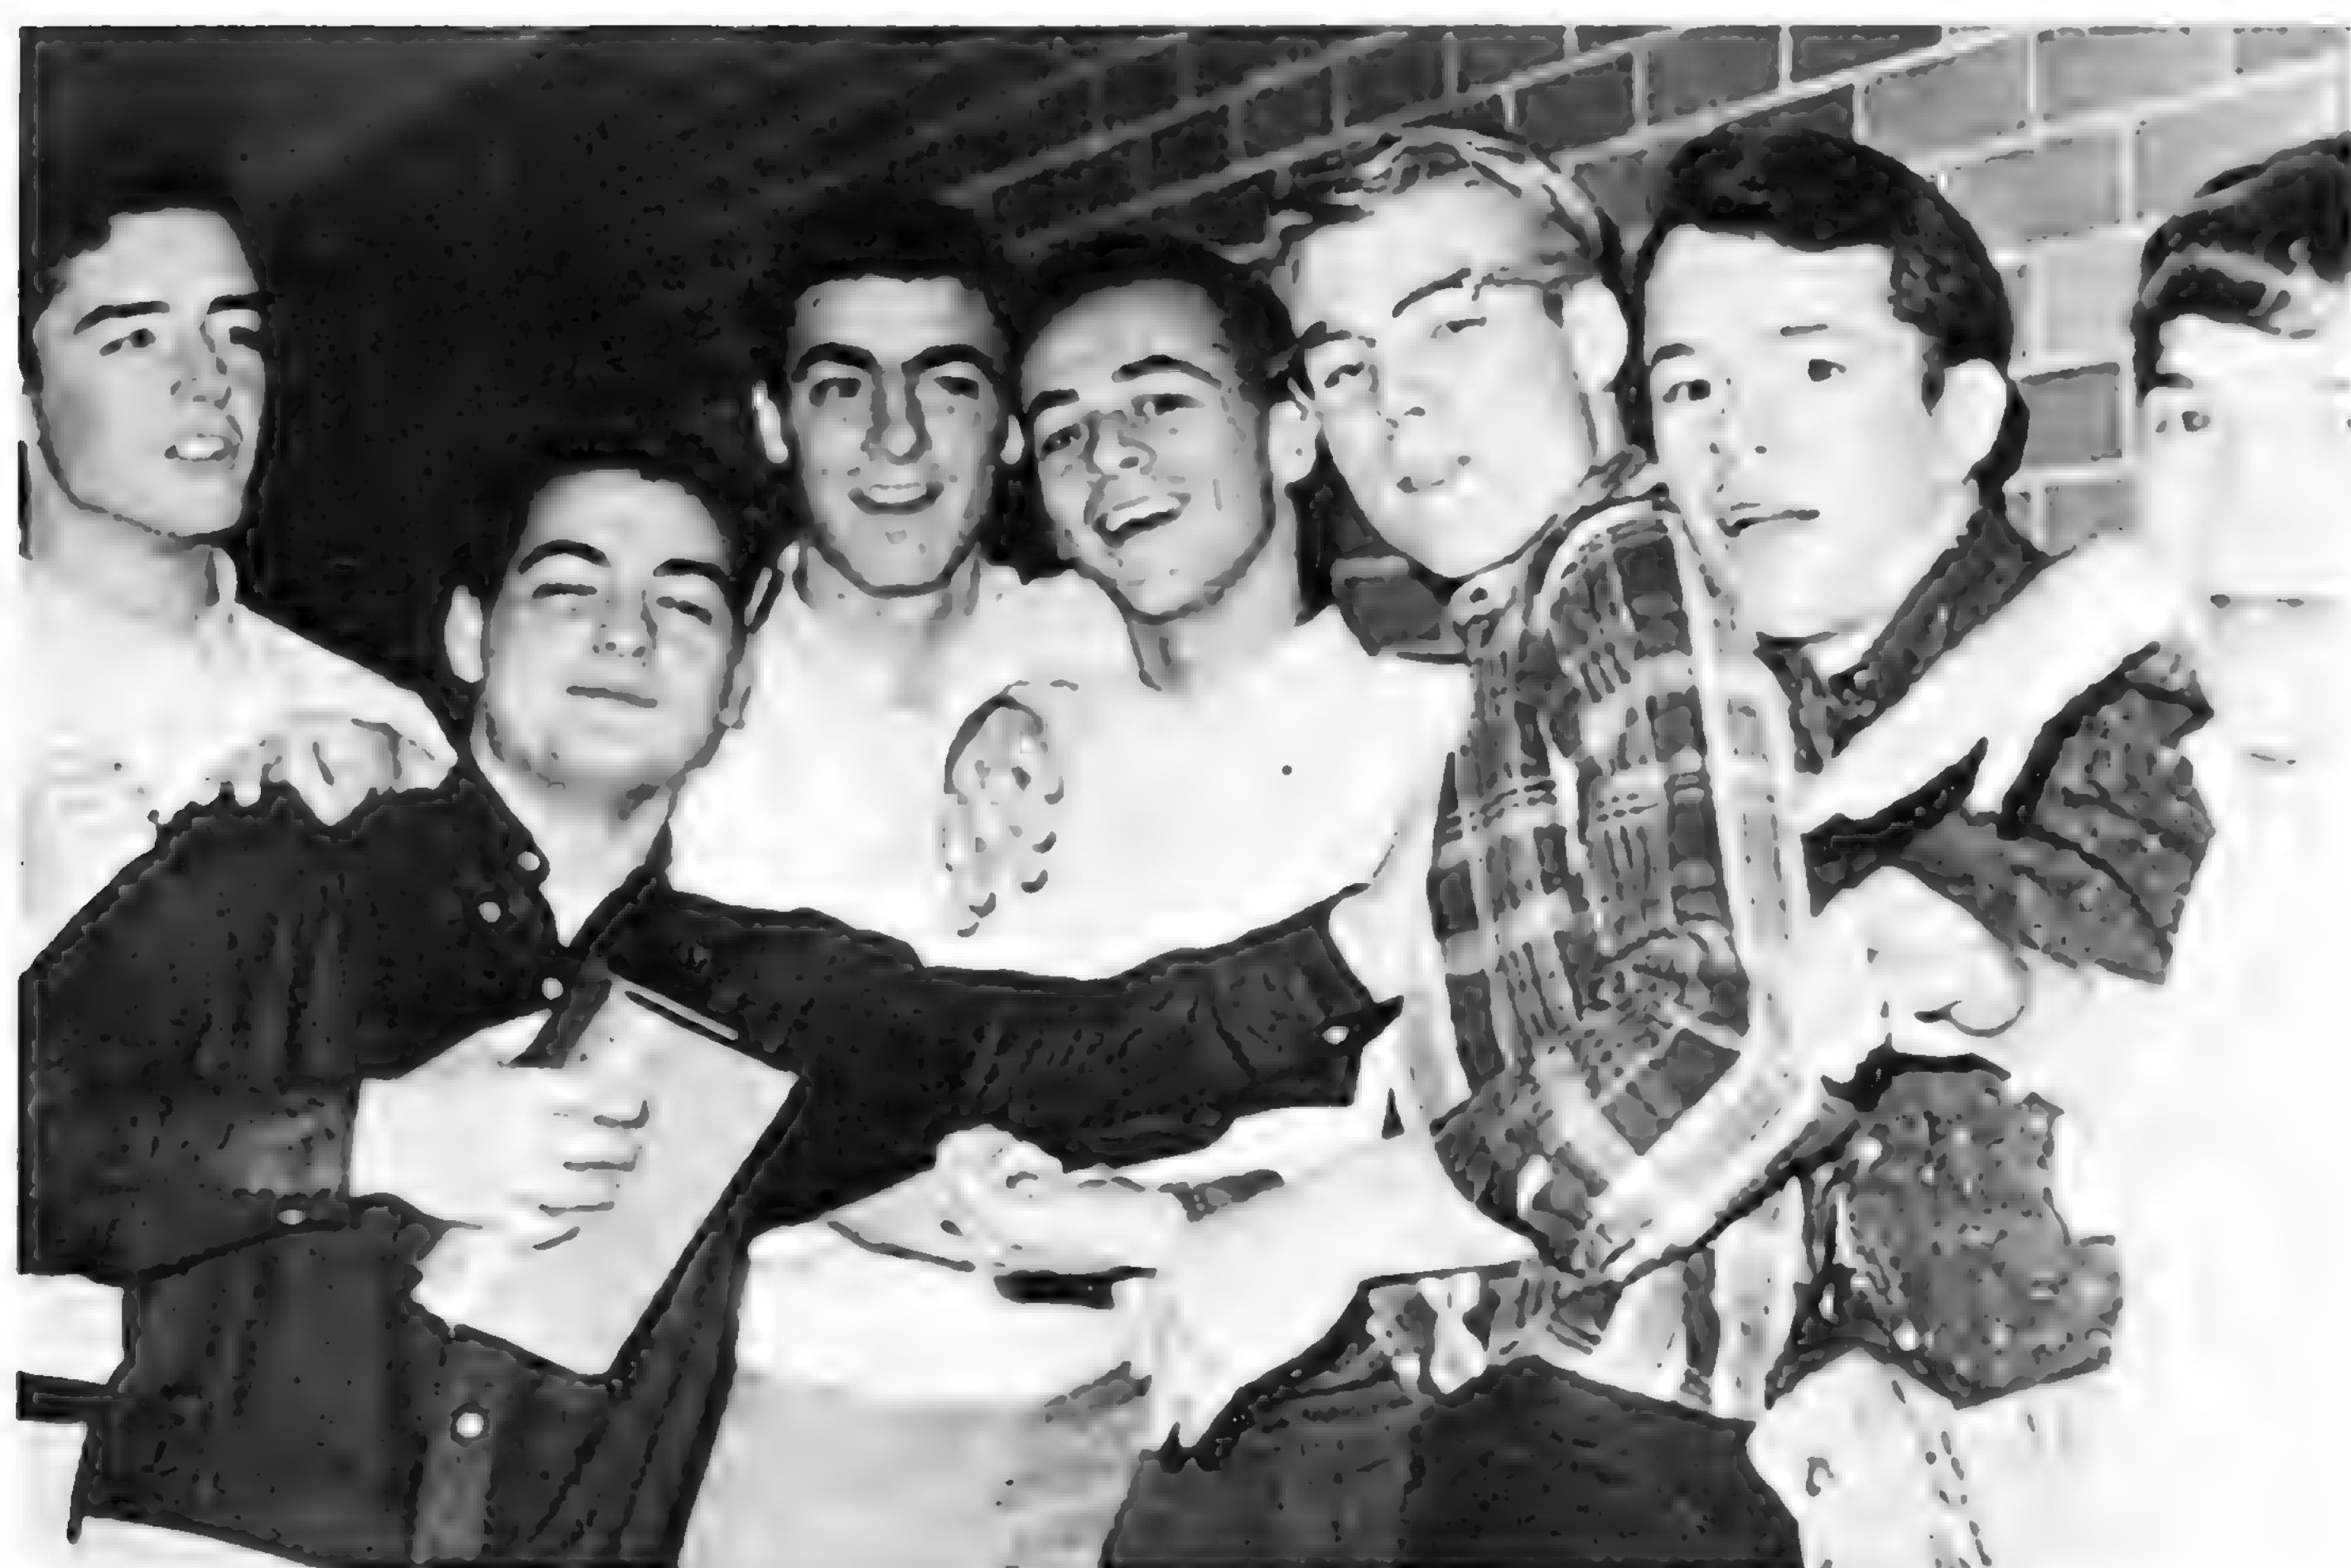

Mr. French and friend

Our main office staff: Mrs. Jean Goldstein, Mrs. Ann Robertson, Miss Judy Drake, and Mrs. Virginia Hannigan. Not the least of their worries were our college applications.

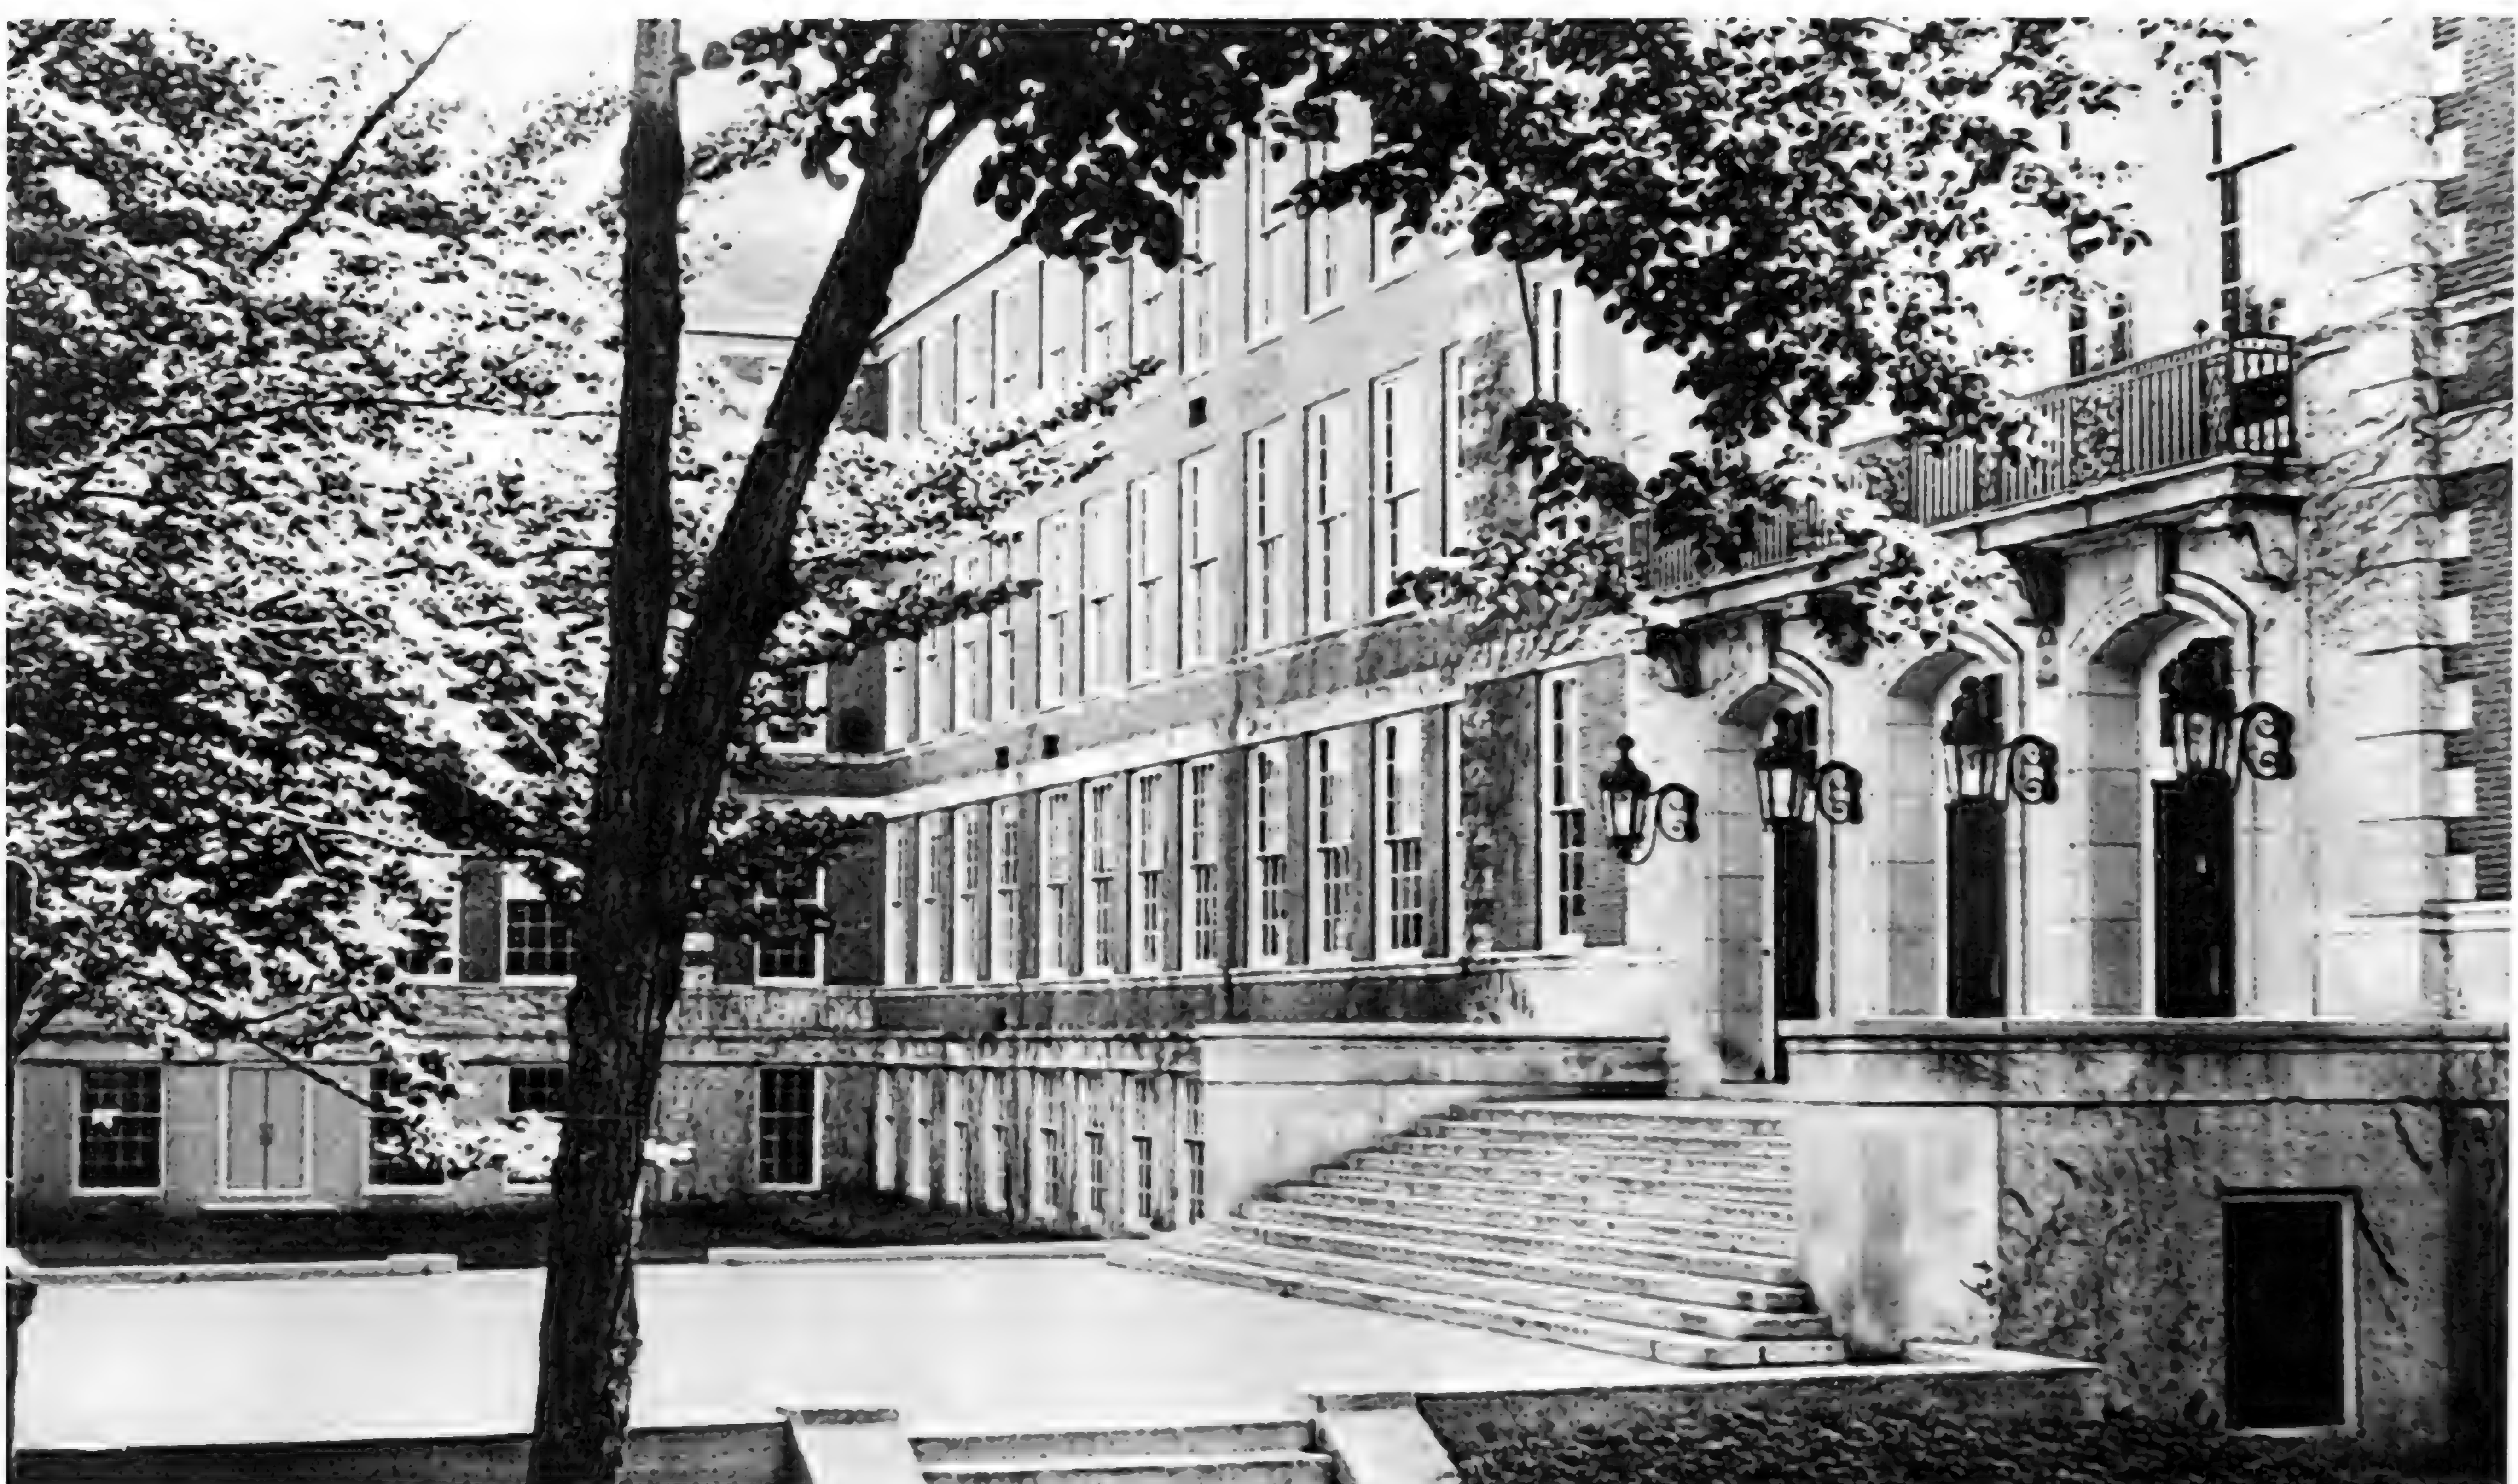

Our momentary escape from classes — fire drills

Our class clowns

The melting pot

Our Alma Mater

All write-ups must be grammatically corrected and often enlivened; all captions must adequately relate the actions in a picture; and all galley proofs must be proof-read. These are all part of Laurel Burkinshaw's job as Literary Editor. As Editor-in-Chief, Terry Hanlon must be an organizer and a jack-of-all-trades: he must design all pages not assigned to any other editor; he must be available to help anyone who might need his assistance; he must go over every page before it is sent to the publishers; and his greatest responsibility is to see that everything runs smoothly and that all deadlines are met.

Although publishing a yearbook is serious business and demands much time and energy, it is never a boring job. Here Terry Hanlon discusses some amusing matter — probably "scintillating" cutlines — with a few of the editors.

Karen Ast, Phyllis Decker, a junior assistant, and Alan Hardesty spent many after school hours photographing scenes of school activities.

ADVERTISING STAFF

Since 1835 the Berkshire Mutual has had its part in insuring the future of Berkshire County residents against loss of property. Selling through independent agents, it offers:

- Modern insurance coverages for your home, personal property and business.
- Savings through dividends which are paid on most types of policies.
- Fast claims service, the kind you appreciate when you have a loss, the kind that is possible because BMI's home office is located in Berkshire County.

In Appreciation

The staff of the 1967 Dome would like to express its sincere appreciation to all those who have helped in the publication of this yearbook. We would especially like to thank the following people:

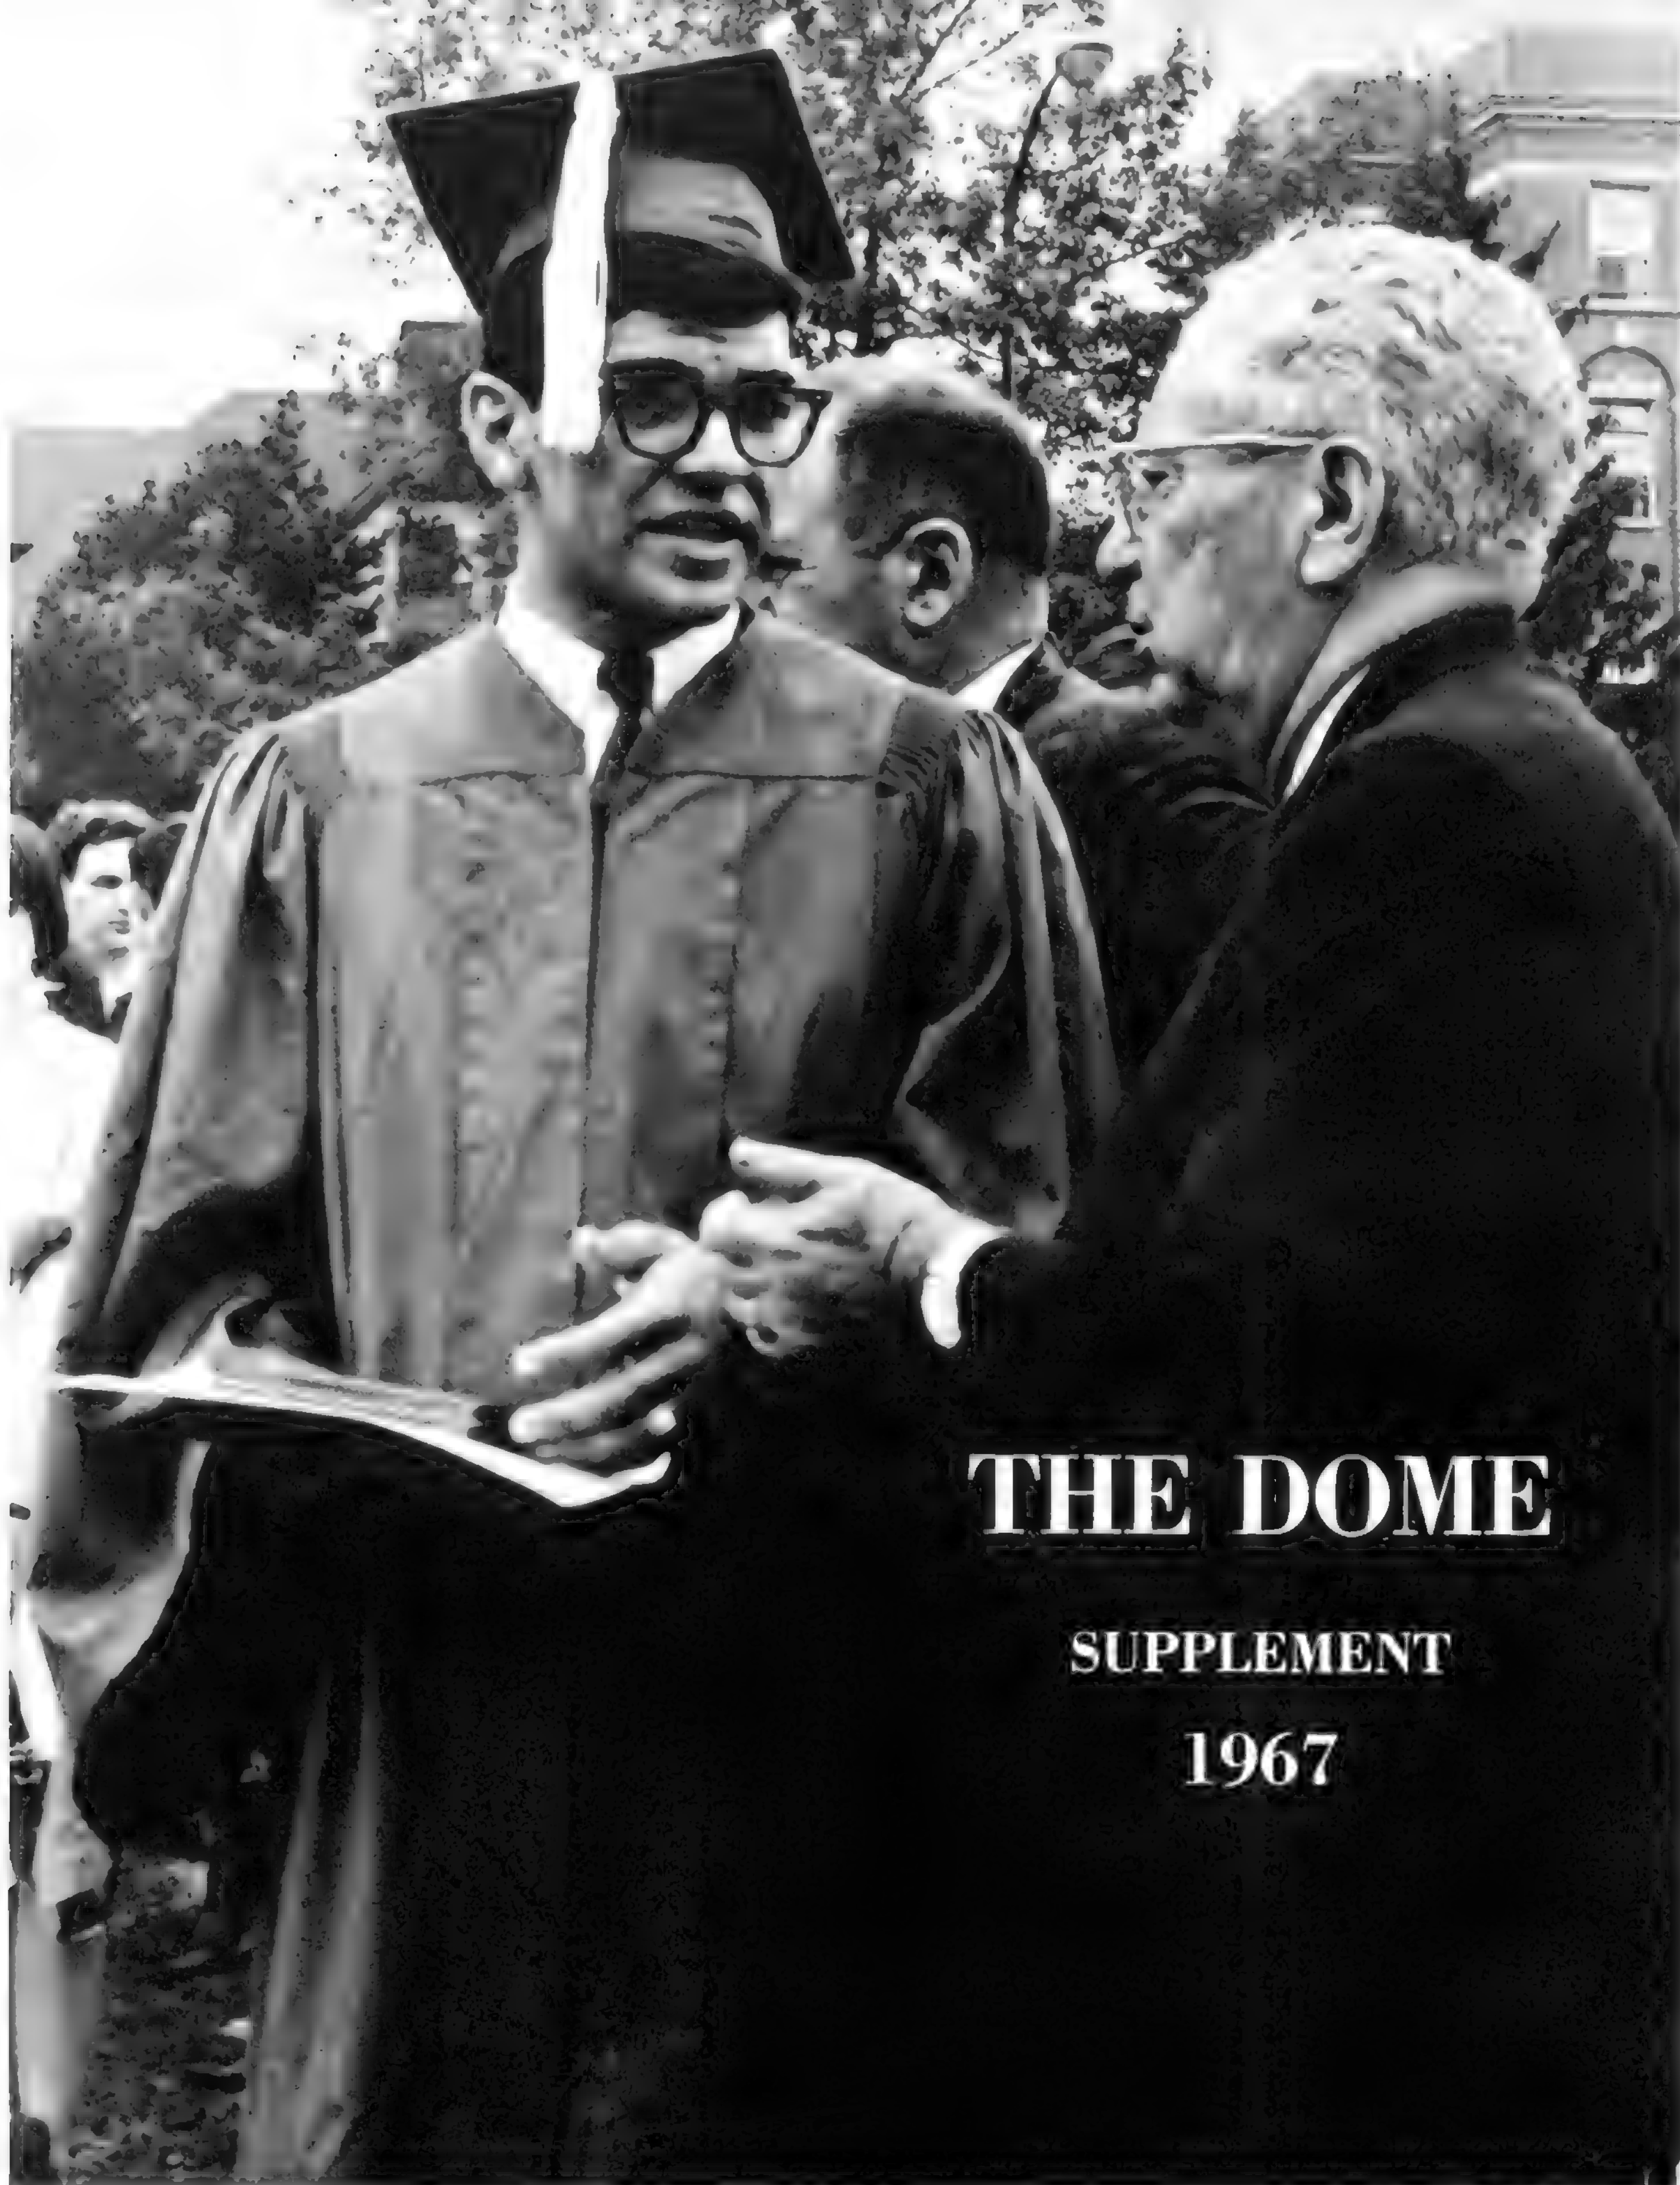

Our advisors — the Missess Elizabeth Enright, Laretta Gultinan, Rosemary Haylon, and Mrs. Patricia O'Leary for their patient guidance.

Mr. Eugene Mitchell and Mark Mitchell for their assistance in the photography.

Mr. Joel Librizzi, Mr. William Mahan, and The Berkshire Eagle for the photographs which they provided for our use.

Mr. David Lombard of the O'Toole Publishing Company for his helpful advice.

Our advertisers for the financial assistance which made this publication possible.

PITTSFIELD HIGH SCHOOL
PITTSFIELD, MASSACHUSETTS

Star graduates of Helping schedule "computer casualties" was one of Mr. Hennessy's major chores.

A loyal fan, Mr. Hennessy was always in the crowd at P.H.S. sports events.

We, the Class of 1967, have been fortunate to have had a chief administrator like Harold E. Hennessy. Our problems have been unique in the school's history, and few could have handled them. The principal of an over-crowded school, split by double sessions and wracked by bomb scares, has no enviable position. Mr. Hennessy has overcome these problems in a calm and orderly fashion, keeping the school and most of its activities running as smoothly as ever.

A major reason for Mr. Hennessy's success as Pittsfield High's principal has been his knowledge of high school students, their thoughts, their problems, and their ideals. His warm sympathy and understanding have eased the troubles of countless students; his avid interest and support have encouraged us in all our high school activities.

The position of principal has always involved a great deal of time, skill, and stamina; Mr. Hennessy, never satisfied with a minimum of effort, has given selflessly of his talents, energy, and time. Often he could be seen working in his office long after school had closed or cheering the school teams at both home and away contests. His staunch loyalty to the school and his devotion to his duties have helped Pittsfield High immeasurably during the last eleven years.

On July 1, 1967, Mr. Hennessy officially steps down from the principal's position. His many accomplishments as chief administrator will set a high goal for his successor, for Pittsfield High School has lost a loyal, energetic, and friendly leader with the retirement of Harold E. Hennessy.

A smile to remember

The Class of 1967 would like to salute a wonderful man, our class advisor, Mr. Milon J. Herrick. His retirement will constitute a real loss for future graduating classes at Pittsfield High. They will never experience his warm friendship, his sincere interest in every student, his help in all class activities, his devotion and willingness to work long hours, and his unfailing good advice.

We consider ourselves extremely fortunate to have been the last of thirteen classes to have had Mr. Herrick as advisor. He has left us many wonderful memories of our class activities and of his part in them. We only hope that he will remember us with as much affection as we will always remember him.

Thank you, Mr. Herrick, for all that you have done for us.

A long-time member of the Science Department will also retire with our class. Quiet, scholarly and 'friendly, Mr. James F. Davison will leave a void difficult to fill.

Miss Gertrude Sullivan has "needled" the students of P.H.S. for more years than she cares to tell as she, too, retires. Students will miss the jovial twinkle and firm, kindly manner that accompanied all her nursing care.

Generals split 1967 city baseball title

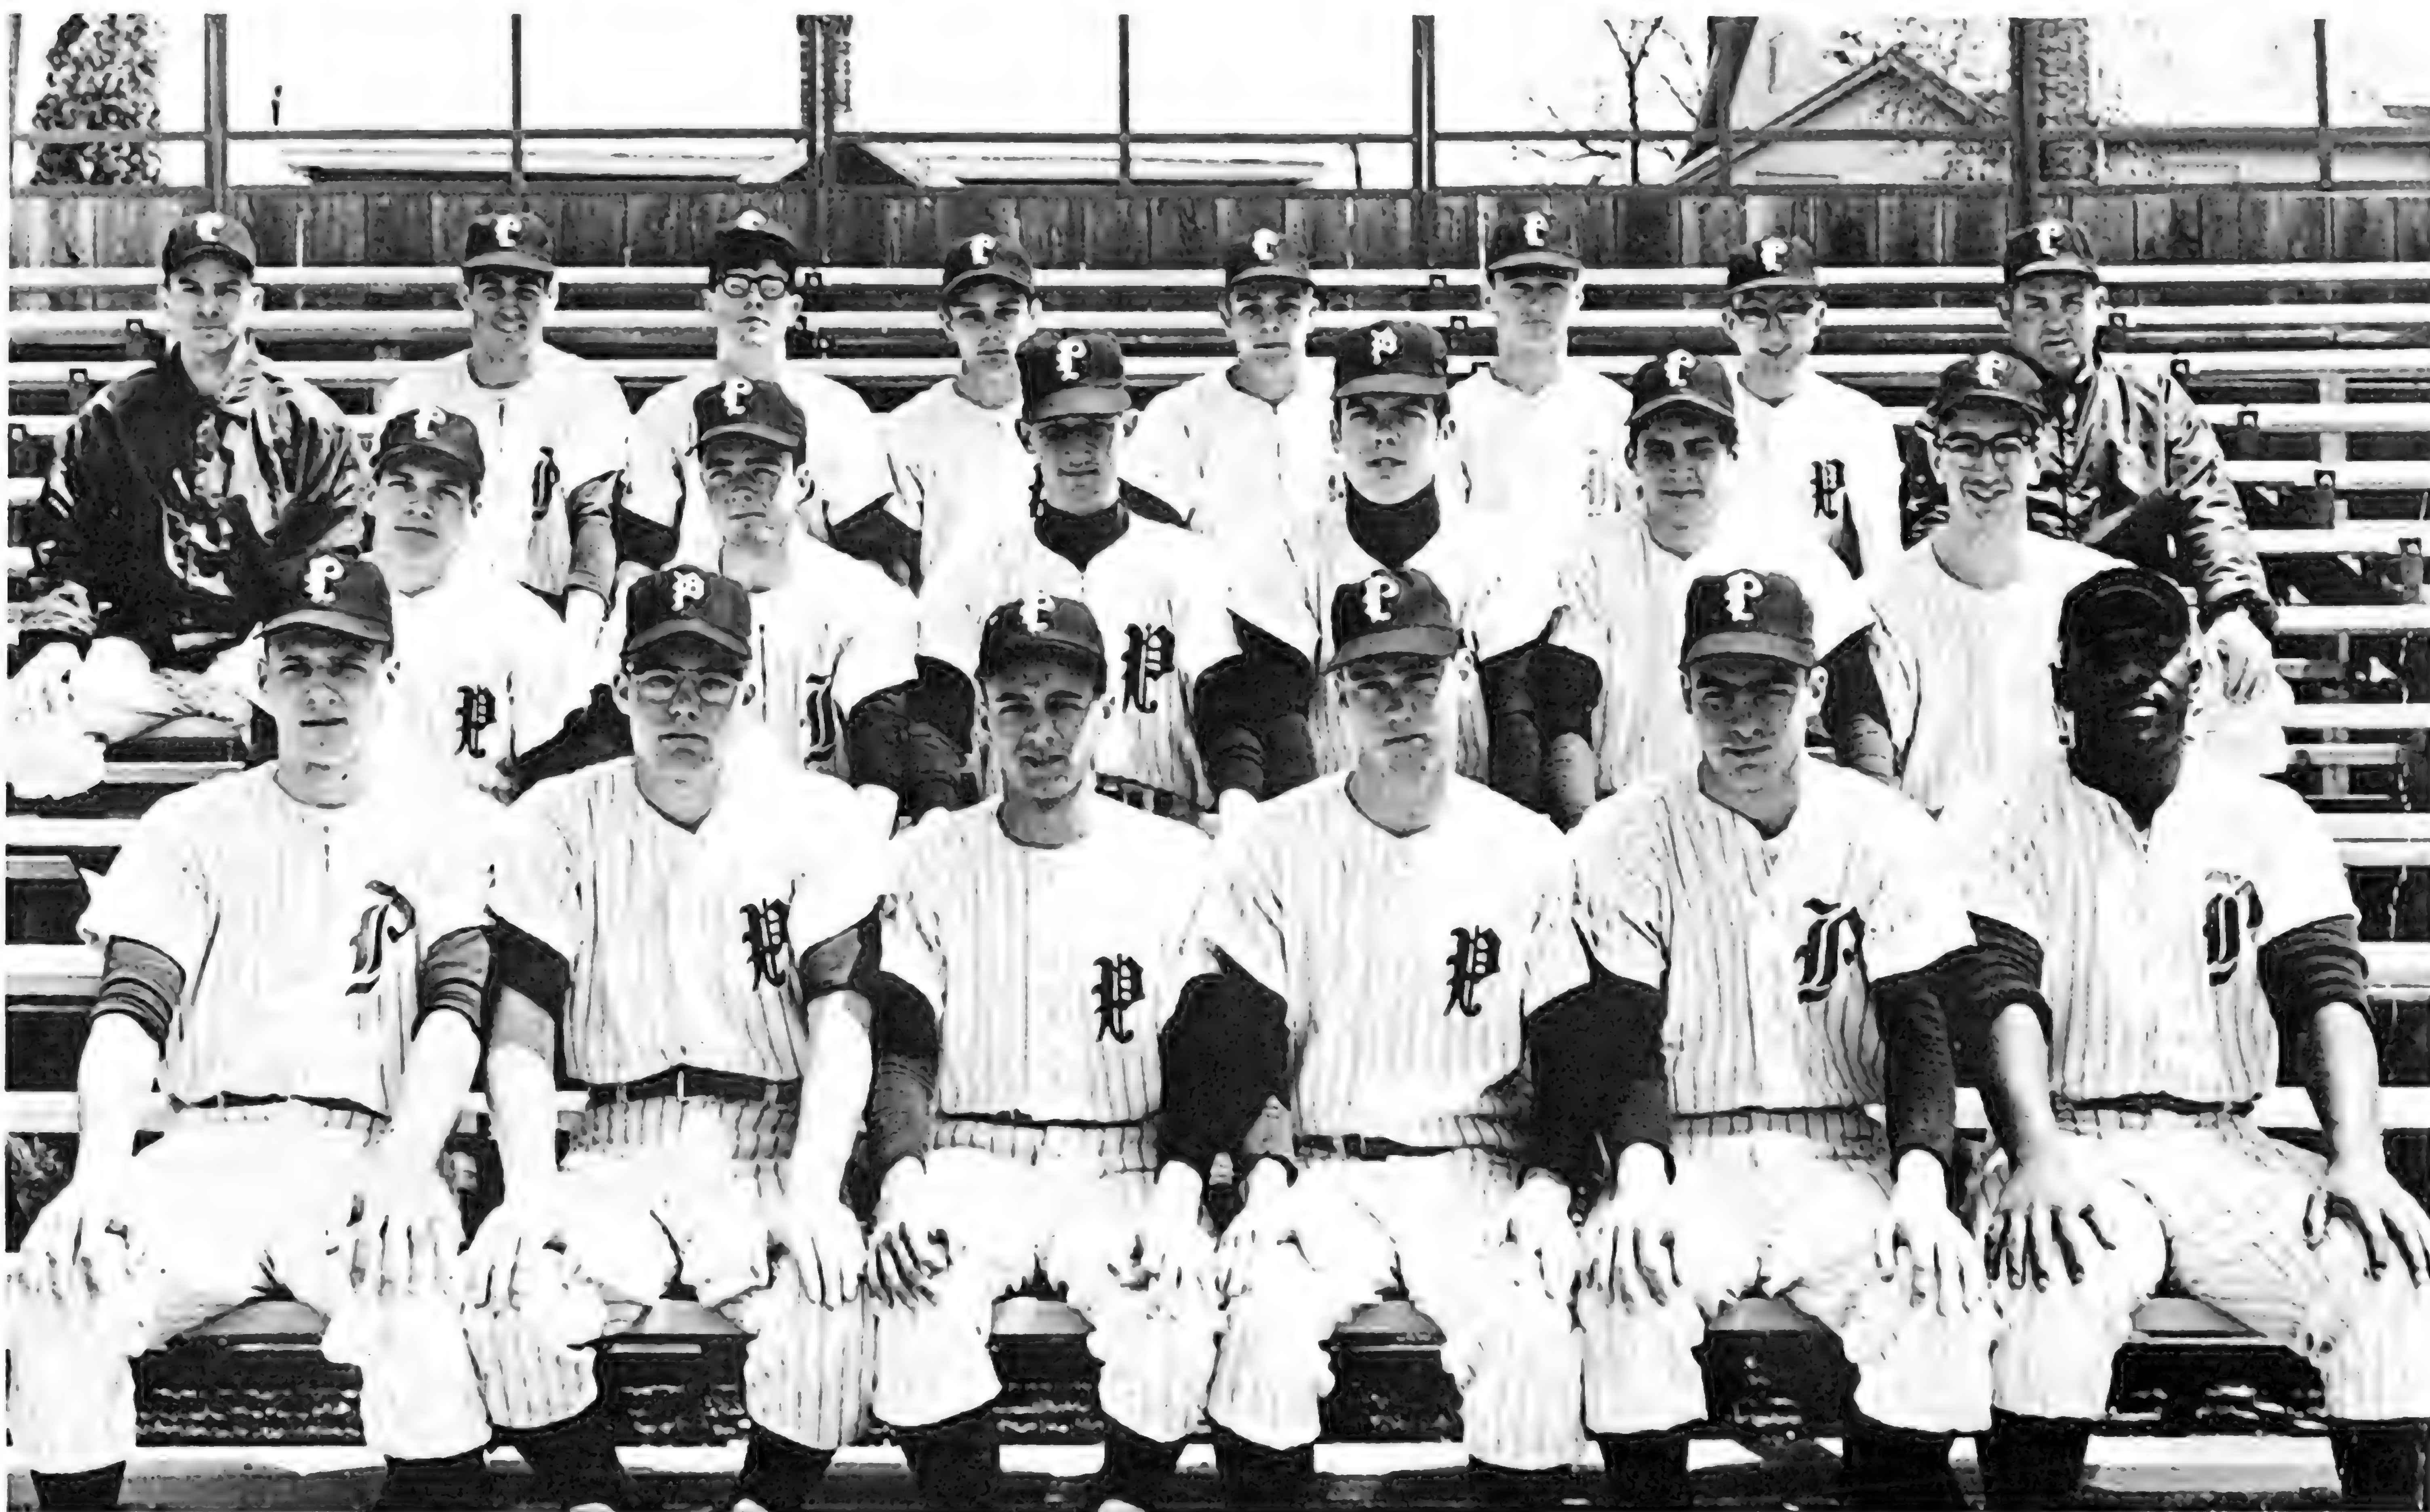

Craig Leslie slides safely into second base.

Pittsfield High, defending State Baseball Champions, had a rough 1967 season in which they lost many of their games by a single run. The team had excellent material, but could not seem to put their talent together at the right times. The Western Mass. competition seemed much keener this year, and Pittsfield's schedule was an especially tough one.

In the famous rivalry between St. Joseph's and Pittsfield High, the Crusaders took the first contest in a hard fought battle, which went scoreless until the last innings. Pittsfield, however, bounced back to win the second game and to even the score with the St. Joe foes.

Top General hitters were first baseman John Wilk, Joe Kamienski, Tom Barry and Doug Hebert. In fielding, besides Wilk, standouts were Co-Captains Jeff Connor in the outfield and Craig Leslie at short-stop. Walt Pictrowski was the leading pitcher.

Front Row: J. Wilk, S. Gleason, Co-Captains C. Leslie and J. Connor, T. Morano, J. Whitfield. Middle Row: R. Douillet, D. Hebert, W. Monteleone, D. Stetson, W. Pictrowski. Back Row: Coach G.

Pellerin, F. Schultz, T. Barry, J. Briggs, J. Kamienski, J. Markham, T. Cook, Ass't. Coach J. Gleason.

Concentration is evident as Walt Pictrowski hurls one into the strike zone.

John Wilk tags an off-guard opponent at first base.

The Pittsfield Bench watches intently as the catcher, Steve Gleason, awaits a pitch.

Fourth Western Mass. title for trackmen

Determination overcomes agony as Dave Kirkpatrick crosses the two-mile finish line a winner.

Pittsfield High's track team highlighted a spectacular 1967 season by capturing its fourth consecutive Western Mass. championship, a feat unequaled by any other school in the competition. Following a tradition of recent years, the trackmen won every meet of the season. Rolling over Wahconah, West Springfield, Drury, Cathedral, and all opposition at the Steele Relay Carnival, Pittsfield extended to twenty-six its number of consecutive victories (forty-four wins of its last forty-five meets).

School records were set by Co-Captain Gene Kraay, a pole vaulter; John Allen, a low-hurdle man; and Dave Kirkpatrick, a two-miler. Other outstanding men were Jack Giftos and Paul Nelson (half-mile), and Paul Andrew (mile). Pittsfield also showed power in field events. Besides Kraay, Phil Glassanos and Paul Augenstein showed promise as pole vaulters. Johnny Allen and Jack Giftos excelled in the broad-jump, and Paul Germanowski and Barry Clark threw the discus well.

Incredibly lop-sided scores in favor of P.H.S. indicated a consistent effort from every team member. Maintaining this winning spirit is the responsibility of Coach Rudy Benedetti. His skill in molding victors and the grueling work of the individual members were the major factors in the successful season.

Hitting a hurdle loses precious time for Johnny Allen.

Gene Kraay sails easily over the bar to take the Western Mass. title.

P.H.S. wins county golf title

Kneeling: Don Dastoli, Mark Boraski. Standing: Co-Captains Steve Skowronski and Craig Harris, Eric Knutson, Ed Foss, and Coach Frank Moxon.

Completing an undefeated season, the golf team crushed Lee High $12\frac{1}{2}$ to $5\frac{1}{2}$ to take the Berkshire County High School Championship.

Co-Captains Greg Harris and Steve Skowronski played outstanding golf throughout the season, supported by Erick Knutson, Ed Foss, Mark Boraski and Don Dastoli. Coach Frank Moxon, in his first season, had a large part in the victory.

Tennis team gains experience

Kneeling: F. Tower, M. Kurjon, D. Pappas, K. Hyding. Standing: Coach P. Rodhouse, D. Wakefield, J. Lysonski, M. Freedman, D. Whitehead, D. Lanfair.

The racketmen of P.H.S. completed the season behind in wins but ahead in valuable experience. Only in their second year, the Pittsfield team played the seasoned and mighty tennis schools of Lenox Prep and Windsor Mountain. Their record was 0-3. Each of these losses, however, was close. The team's problems could be attributed to a number of things, but lack of experience was the major drawback.

The number one starter for Coach Rodhouse was Cornelius Carmody. He was followed in the lineup by Dave Lanfair, Pete Burdett, and Marv Freedman.

Elissa Bertocci anxiously awaits curtain time as P.H.S. alumna, Sue Grady arranges a Chinese hairstyle.

highlights our final days

Pittsfield High tradition was broken by the Class of '67 when the Prom and Banquet were held on separate evenings. This change made both events more relaxing and eliminated the confusion of rushing home from the Banquet to dress and then rushing to school for the Prom.

The Banquet was held on Wednesday, June 7, in the gym of the Boys' Club. The evening began with a social hour and closed with a toast to the future. During the program Mr. Herrick was presented a watch by the class president, Louis Massery.

Two evenings later on Friday, June 9, seniors and their guests entered the gym, which had been transformed into a world of Lavender Blue. Although the night was warm and humid, everyone enjoyed the lively music provided by John Galletly and his orchestra. Many attended the After-Prom Party at Eastover, where swimming and dancing lasted until the wee hours of the morning.

Mr. Herrick will always be a favorite with the Class of '67. Here Pat Flynn, Craig Leslie, King Barbalunga, and Karen Ast discuss his plans for the future with him.

Senior Pomp

All classes, and ours was no exception, look forward for three years to the frivolity and the solemnity of Class Day.

After listening to the presentation of honors and awards, it was our turn to satirize the life and problems of the typical P.H.S. student, all in the spirit of good fun.

The fun and frolic turned solemn as we relinquished to the Junior Class our position as school leaders and marched out of the school to plant our tree, the symbol of the Class of '67.

At the tree planting ceremony Louis Massery introduces the Class Tree Orator, Shaun Harrington.

Continuity of leadership is assured here as Lou Massery lights the symbolic candle of Tony Massimiano, President of the Class of 1968.

Class officers lead the entire class to the tree planting ceremony.

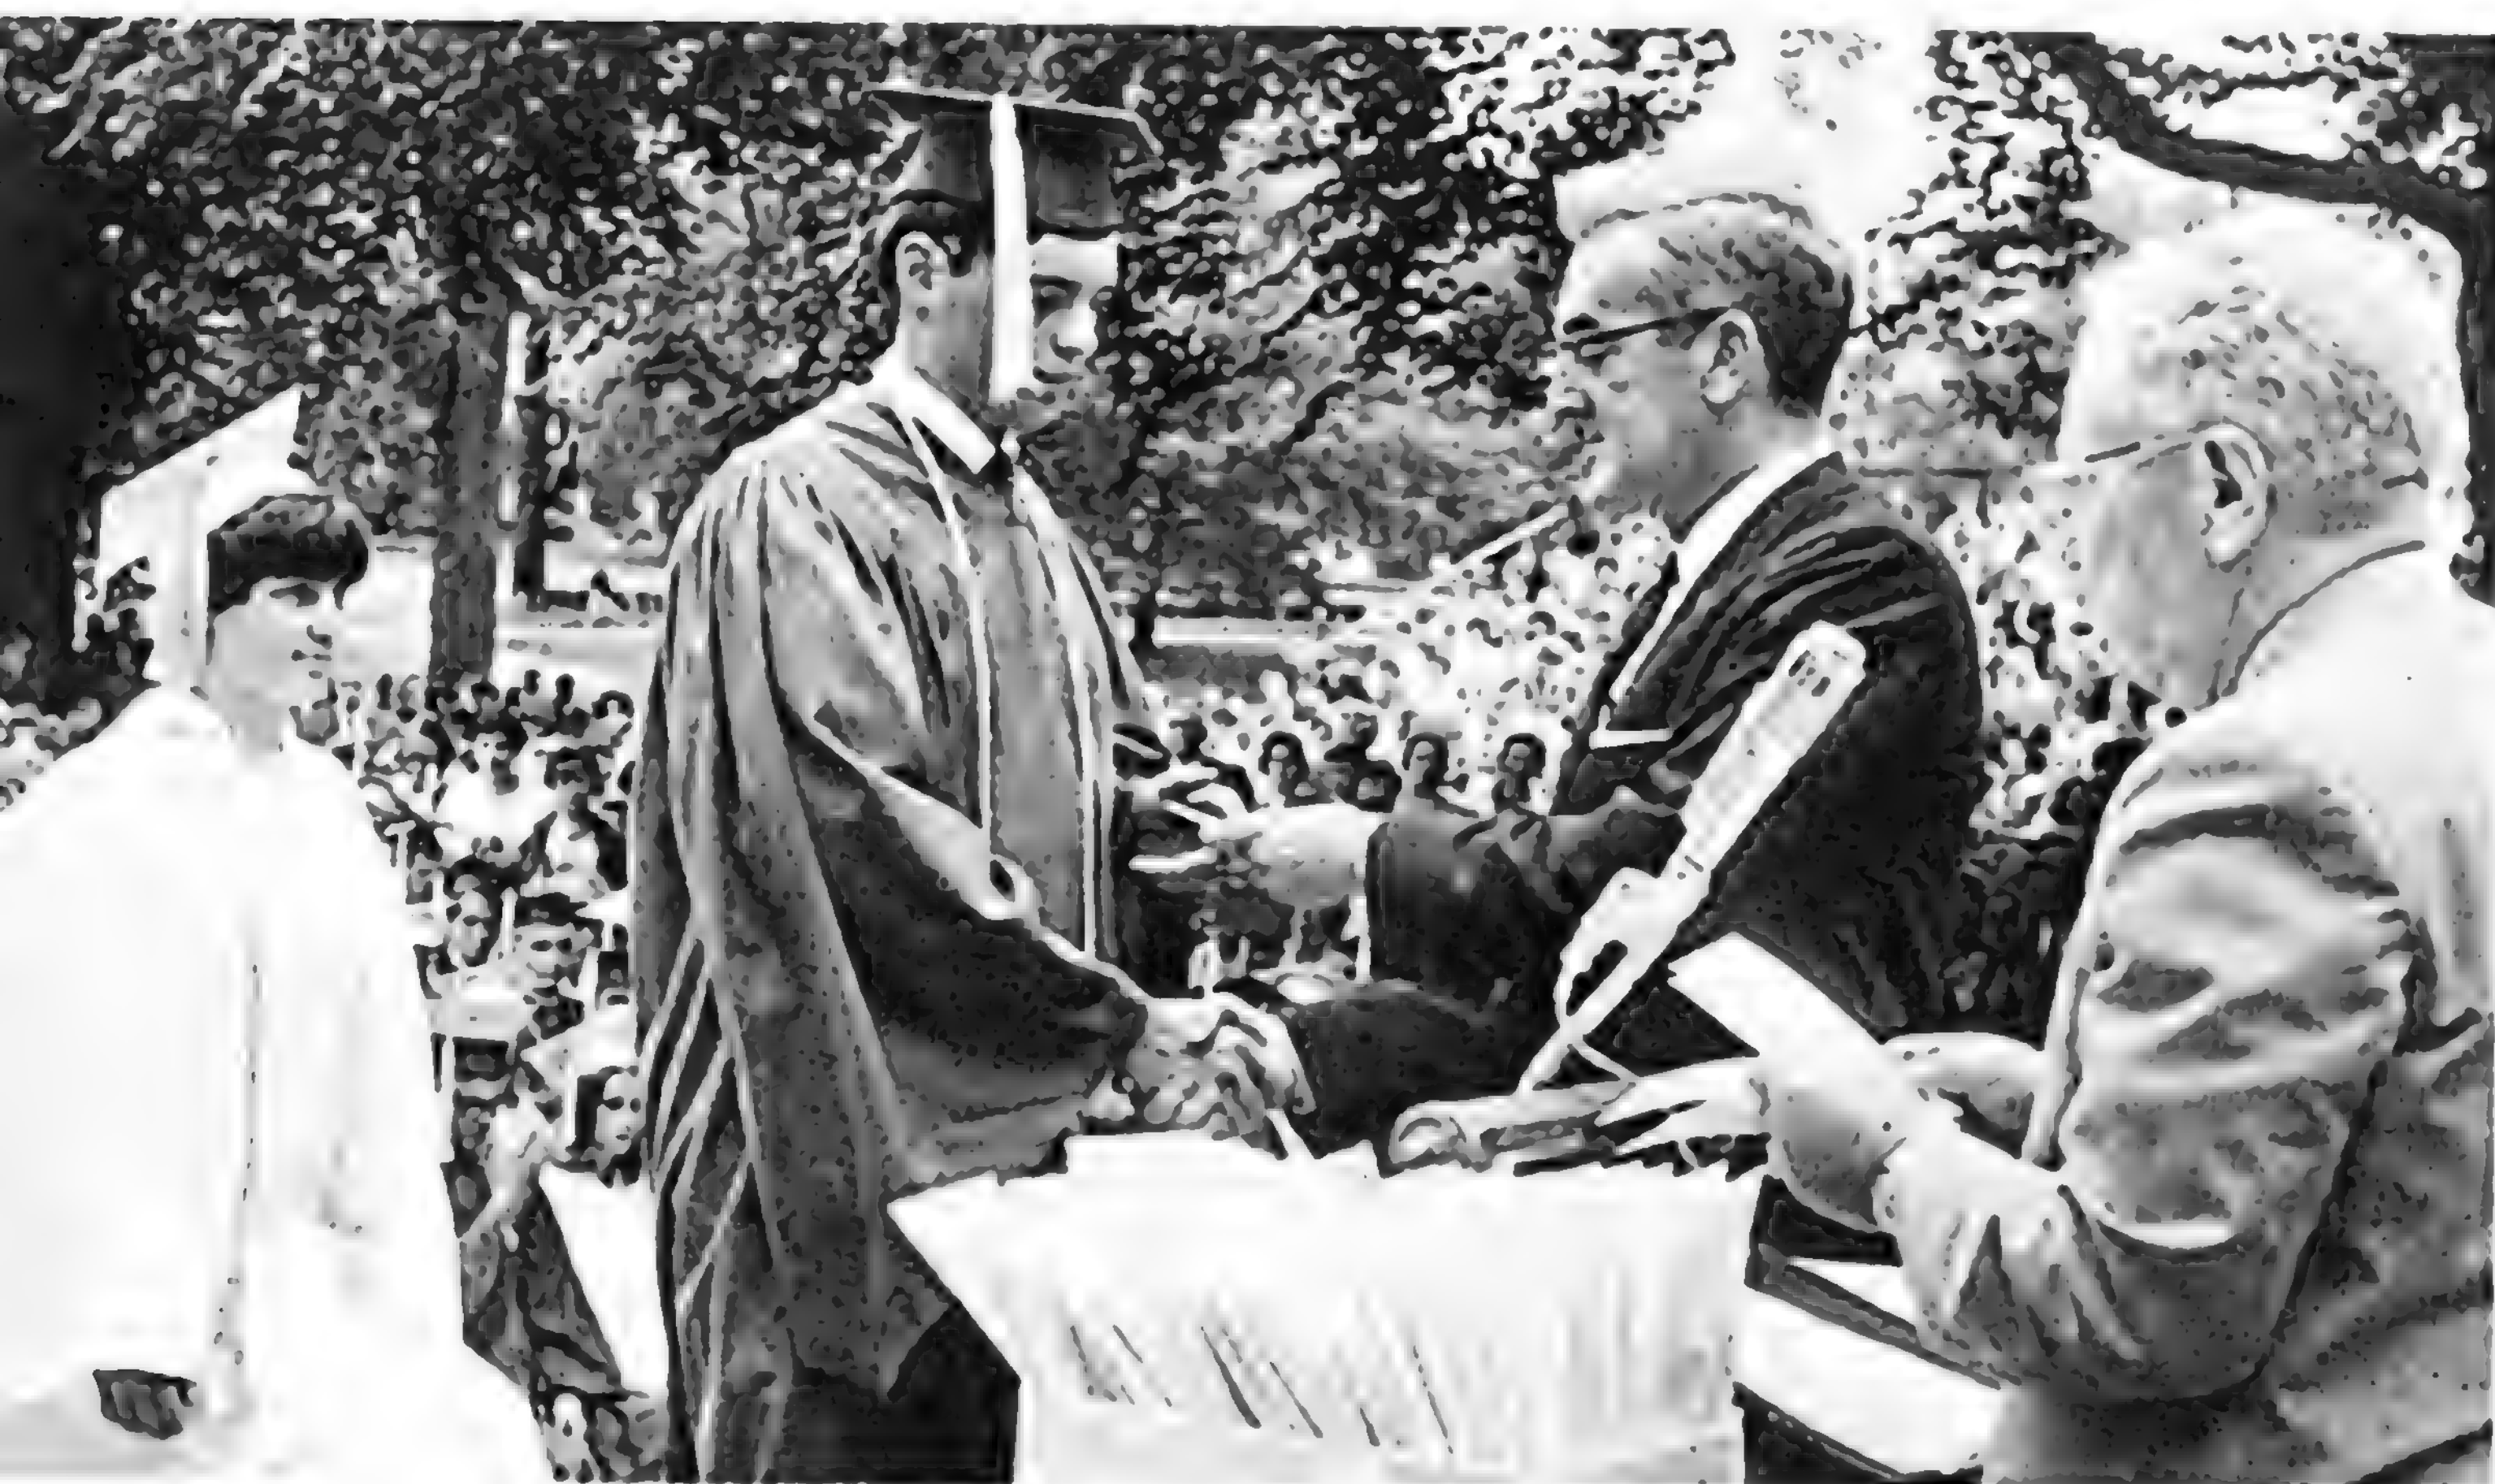

and Circumstance

The Class of 1967 always boasted that they would pull through come rain or shine. Graduation day gave them the real opportunity to demonstrate.

The program on the mall had been under way only twenty minutes when the heavens opened up and the rain descended. On signal, the graduates filed swiftly to the auditorium, while the guests scurried to obtain seats for the program inside which continued with scarcely a single moment of confusion.

Almost miraculously each student received his own diploma, a feat which climaxed a memorable day.

The presentation of 107 Pro-Merito Awards and Honor Pins was completed before the thunderstorm broke.

As students we have our final glance at the Dome.

Even rain could not

Within moments only the chairs remained, mute testimony to the power of the elements.

Covered with plastic, our precious diplomas were protected from the downpour.
